Jan. 6 earliest for even deposition

Panel says Nixon can't testify

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A panel of three physicians said today that ailing former President Richard M. Nixon is unable to testify in the Watergate cover-up trial and probably would not be able to until Feb. 16, 1975.

The specialists, who examined the former president at the request of U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, also reported that Nixon would be unable to make a deposition until Jan. 6, 1975, and then only in two daily sessions of one hour each.

The report, which was issued unanimously by the three doctors, threw considerable doubt on whether the former president's testimony will be available for the trial of five former Nixon aides, which had been expected to conclude before Christmas.

Nixon, who has been hospitalized twice since he resigned from the presidency last Aug. 9, was examined personally at his San Clemente, Calif., home by the three court appointed physicians. He has been subpoenaed to testify at the trial by his former No. 2 White House aide, defendant John D. Ehrlichman.

The 3-page physicians report to Sirica said:

1. Mr. Nixon is not personally able to travel to Washington to testify.

2. It is difficult to predict with accuracy when such a trip to Washington, D.C., might be accomplished without excessive risk. If recovery proceeds at the anticipated rate, and there are no further complications, we would estimate that such a trip is possible by February 16, 1975.

3. Mr. Nixon is not presently able to appear and tesitfy at a site near his home.

4. His recovery proceeds at the anticipated rate, and there are no further complications, we would estimate that he should be able to testify at a courtroom near his home by Feb. 2, 1975.

5. Mr. Nixon is not presently able to be deposed by the parties in this case.

6. If recovery proceeds at the anticipated rate, and there are no further complications, we would estimate that he should be able to give a deposition in his home by Jan. 6, 1975.

7. If a deposition is to be taken as described in response to 6 above, we suggest it be obtained in no more than two daily sessions of no longer than one hour each. There should be adequate opportunity for rest between sessions. A physician should be in attendance to monitor Mr. Nixon's condition during the taking of a deposition."

Some damage

Temblor jars central area of California

HOLLISTER, Calif. (UPI) — The central California coast Thursday was rocked by a rolling earthquake that cracked windows, knocked cans from grocery shelves and disrupted one police radio system.

Law enforcement agencies reported they were flooded with telephone calls from worried residents but did not receive any reports of injuries.

University of California seismologists at Berkeley said the temblor registered 5.25 on the Richter scale and was classified as "mild to moderate." They said the epicenter was near this small agricultural community. The quake occurred at 3:01 p.m. PST.

The shock was "felt widely" along the coast from the San Francisco Bay Area to Monterey, the seismologists said.

The San Benito Sheriff's office here said windows were broken, canned goods were toppled from their shelves and glasses were knocked over. For a short time, a spokesman said, the radio service was disrupted.

A Monterey County Sheriff's office spokesman said at nearby Salinas, "It was quite a shaker —it shook like hell."

This town is known as the "Earthquake Capital of the World" because it borders on the crack in the Earth's crust which is called the San Andreas Fault. Tremors are a common occurence here.

Here's text of letter accompanying report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Text of a letter accompanying the report by three doctors to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica on the medical condition of former President Richard M. Nixon:

Dear Judge Sirica:

The report of the medical panel is submitted with this letter. All members were in agreement with the opinions it contains. The dates stipulated are the expression of our judgment at the present time and are subject to modification by unknown future medical developments.

If required by the court the panel can submit the medical reasons and data upon which it based its report. This would involve specific information regarding his (Nixon) condition, which we have been instructed is confidential.

I would be pleased to meet with you to discuss the reasons for the opinions expressed by the panel, if you wish.

Sincerely yours,

Charles A. Hufnagel, M.D., chairman medical panel.

BACK TO THE BURIAL GROUNDS

The site of the first Thanksgiving dinner was the scene Thursday of a peaceful protest by Indians demanding return of an ancestor's bones from the Pilgrim Museum in Plymouth, Mass. The bones of a 16-year-old Wampanoag girl had been dug up on Cape Cod in 1863 and later put on display in the museum. The bones, draped in ceremonial blankets, are carried away by Wampanoag Indians.

U.S. population now nearing zero growth

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — U.S. population growth has fallen below one per cent a year and appears to be dropping toward zero, according to a United Nations report.

The Economic and Social Council put U.S. population growth at 0.9 per cent annually for the first four years of the 1970s —a drop from 1.3 per cent a year in the previous decade.

The council said young American couples anticipated an average of 2.3 children in a family, just above the 2.2 replacement level.

The United States, the report said, appeared "to be approaching a natural rate of increase close to zero."

Although much of the council's data was more than a year old, the report said the last two years had seen some reduction in violent crime in American cities.

The report said the increase in crime at the start of the decade was due to a rise in heroin use, but "it is possible that drug addiction in the United States has passed its peak."

The council said one reason for the drop in population growth was an increase in Americans living alone. It said the number of persons alone rose from 11.9 million in 1970 to 14 million in 1973.

Another significant factor in the drop in population growth was a change in the distribution of age groups.

The report said the number of children under five years of age dropped from 8.9 per cent in 1968 to 7.8 per cent in 1973, while the proportion of people over 65 rose from 9.5 per cent in 1965 to 10.1 in 1973.

It reported a sharp increase in the number of Americans who had moved from central city areas to the suburbs in the past decade.

The report put the population of the suburbs at 69 million compared with 55 million 10 years earlier, while in the central city areas the increase was from 58 million to 61 million.

Airport's expecting another 'cruncher'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An airport official says "Sunday's going to be a cruncher" similar to Thanksgiving Eve's massive traffic jam that caused hundreds to miss flights.

The official, operations supervisor Oreese Elmore, said Thursday drivers who are coming to San Francisco International Sunday to pick up passengers should gauge their arrivals so they won't be driving around and waiting.

Doctor expects flu attacks to strike earlier this year

BOSTON (UPI) — More cases of flu beginning earlier in the winter can be expected this year, according to the medical director of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co.

In addition, Dr. Harry R. Mushlin said Wednesday, "The influenza epidemic, if it does occur, will occur at an earlier date than in previous years."

Mushlin said modern medicine is unable to keep up with the rapid mutations and variants of Influenza A, which is expected to cause the outbreak this year. While the vaccines are as up to date as possible, he said, they commonly are a year behind the mutation which causes the flu.

He said, "Medication is purely symptomatic and usually consists of aspirin in one form or another to help relieve the aches and pain, and to lessen the fever. It also may be desirable to increase the protein intake in one's food during the illness to make it more available in the production of antibodies."

British rush through bill outlawing IRA

LONDON (UPI) — Parliament and Queen Elizabeth today outlawed the Irish Republican Army and gave the police wider emergency powers to arrest and hold suspected bombers and terrorists.

Scotland Yard maintained tight security throughout the capital against retaliatory IRA attacks.

The anti-IRA bill received an unopposed third and final reading in the House of Commons after a marathon 17 hours of debate. The House of Lords gave it rubber stamp approval less than 15 minutes after receiving it and sent it to Queen Elizabeth, who signed it.

Despite a night of criticism by opposition legislators calling the measure too soft, the bill went through the House of Commons unopposed on its third and final reading.

Immediately after the bill passed through both Houses of Parliament it was rushed to Buckingham Palace for the Queen to sign, indicating the importance the government attached to it.

Normally bills receive the formal royal assent from a commission consisting of the Lord Chancellor and the government and opposition leaders of the House of Lords.

The anti-IRA law went into effect immediately.

Because of time needed to get instructions to port and airport authorities, the immigration curbs included in it will not go into effect until midnight.

Scotland Yard warned Britons to guard against reprisal bombings. A series of blasts has wounded 29 Londoners since the IRA crackdown was announced Monday.

Worried London mailmen, fearing a new outbreak of letter bombs, refused to handle packages to and from Ireland.

Despite the delaying tactics of some legislators, the House of Commons passed the "Prevention of Terrorism" bill and armed police with wide powers to seize IRA suspects.

The government drafted the bill following bomb attacks in Birmingham last week that killed 20 persons. Police blamed the IRA for the blasts.

Bomb blasts have killed 49 persons and injured more than 800 in Britain in the past two years as part of an IRA campaign to end British rule in Northern Ireland.

The government-sponsored bill makes the IRA illegal in Britain for the first time and bans wearing of IRA uniforms. It also gives authorities power to bar or expel IRA suspects from Britain.

Spokesmen for all parties united to support the crackdown in Parliament.

Hikers discover body of gagged, decomposed man

The gagged body of an unidentified man was found lying at the foot of an embankment in the 3200 block of Turnbull Canyon Road in Industry Thursday.

The grisly discovery was made shortly after noon by hikers about 15 feet below road level. A coroner's spokesman said the badly-decomposed remains had been there two or three months. An autopsy was planned today to determine the cause of death.

The body was that of a caucasian about 25, dressed in an unmarked service station uniform. There were no papers on the body.

Freeway sniper wounds girl in passing car

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A sniper positioned alongside the Harbor Freeway shot at a passing automobile Thursday night hitting a 14-year-old girl in the head.

Naomi Montijo, of Lawndale was listed in critical condition at Martin Luther King Hospital.

California Highway Patrol officers said the bullet entered an open window on the passenger side of the car and hit the girl in the temple as she sat in the front seat next to her father.

Investigators said the shot came from the eastern embankment of the freeway.

Forty officers, aided by a helicoper, searched a 14-block area adjacent to the freeway but no clues were found.

The girl's mother, Eva, was in severe shock when an ambulance arrived at the scene. She is listed in satisfactory condition at the hospital.

President Ford planning a visit to China in 1975

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will visit the People's Republic of China in 1975, the United States and China announced jointly today at the conclusion of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to Peking.

Ford's scheduled visit to China, the second for an American president since President Richard M. Nixon went to Peking in 1972, was announced simultaneously by the White House and the Chinese government.

White House press secretary Ron Nessen quoted Ford as saying of the trip:

"I look forward to visiting the People's Republic of China some time next year and to continuing the process of normalizing our relations."

It will not be Ford's first trip to China. He went to Peking in the summer of 1972.

The joint announcement, issued at the end of Kissinger's sixth visit to China since July 1971, said:

"The U.S. and Chinese sides held frank, wide-ranging and mutually beneficial talks. They reaffirmed their unchanged commitment to the principals of the Chang Hai communique. The two governments agreed that President Gerald R. Ford would visit the People's Republic of China in 1975."

The Chang Hai communique was issued at the conclusion of Nixon's eight-day trip to China in February, 1972. It called for making U.S.-China relations more normal and the United States promised to reduce its military forces on Taiwan as tension in the area diminished.

An official aboard Kissinger's plane said the idea of another presidential trip to Peking was raised by the Chinese shortly after Kissinger arrived in Peking Monday. The trip was scheduled Wednesday after Kissinger checked with Ford in a telephone call, the official said.

Neither side gave a specific reason for the visit. But the issue of Taiwan, the seat of the Nationalist government of China, remains a serious and unsettled problem in U.S.-Chinese relations.

The People's Republic of China considers Taiwan an integral part of its territory. The United States, on the other hand, maintains full diplomatic relations with the government of Taiwan as well as a defense treaty.

Under the Nixon administration, the United States sought to keep the Taiwan problem on a back burner, hoping that eventually the leaders in Taiwan and the leaders in Peking might hold talks which could eventually resolve their differences.

However, the Nationalist Chinese have adamantly refused to hold discussions with the Peking leaders whom they fear would seek to impose Communist control over Taiwan.

Man arrested after 2 bullets fired into home

A Pomona man, accused of firing two shots into a house in Claremont after a family quarrel late Wednesday night, was arrested a few minutes later near his home.

No one was wounded, but one person collapsed from shock.

The shooting occurred shortly before midnight at 398 S. Mountain Ave., the Steven W. Solomon residence. The Pomonan, James Cunningham, 46, 2132 Ramsey Way, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder and receiving stolen property. Police gave this account:

Cunningham arrived at the Solomon residence and began waving a cocked and loaded, .44-caliber revolver around in the kitchen. An off-duty security guard visiting there, LaMota M. Browne of Inglewood, managed to slip behind him and disarm him. Mrs. Ruby Solomon unloaded the weapon, which contained only one cartridge. After a few minutes, the gun was returned to Cunningham and he left.

About 45 minutes later a shot was heard and a bullet smashed into the front door of the Solomon residence. Solomon, 23, collapsed on the floor and a second shot slammed into a corner bedroom. That shot was followed by two others, none of which apparently struck the house.

Claremont police alerted Pomona police to be watching for Cunningham and he was stopped and held for them by Officer Vittorio Mancini. The revolver, in the trunk of Cunningham's car, contained four expended cartridges.

Solomon, suffering shock, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where he was treated and later released.

Police learned that the revolver, described as an antique Colt revolver, was taken in a burglary in La Verne last February.

Crash injures 2 valley residents

Two Uplanders were injured Thursday night when their car was struck from behind by another car and was driven into a chain link fence and a utility pole on Seventh Street just west of Euclid Avenue in Upland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reilly of 298 Austin St., were treated at San Antonio Community Hospital and later released.

Police said the Reillys were traveling west on Seventh Street when their car was hit by a car driven by James Wesley Ward, 28, of Huntington Beach.

Police said that Ward was not injured in the accident, but was booked in the West End Jail on suspicion of felony drunk driving.

Man dies after complaining of stomach pains

Ontario police and the San Bernardino County Coroner's Office this morning are investigating the death of a 25-year-old man whose body was found on the living room sofa of his home at 558 W. Oakland Ave. early this morning.

Richard Alfred Rivas of the Oakland Street address, according to police reports, was found dead about 12:30 a.m. Rivas, according to his wife and other witnesses at the home, lay down for a nap after Thanksgiving dinner Thursday and later got up complaining of stomach pains. He went to the bathroom and returned to the cough and went back to sleep. Mrs. Rivas returned to the living room about 12:30 a.m. and found him dead on the sofa.

Police said they suspect Rivas may have died of suffocation after choking on something lodged in his throat.

Singing custodian on TV show today

Roy will be interviewed and sing. The show was taped earlier this week at the Palomino in North Hollywood.

THEY'RE BOTH HAPPY

Nelson Rockefeller, vice presidential designate accompanied his wife, Happy, from Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York Thursday. Mrs. Rockefeller had her second breast cancer operation in six weeks. Rockefeller told newsmen, "We just hope that those who have to face what Happy's faced will have the same wonderful recovery she had." Doctors say no other treatment will be necessary.

2 suspects arrested after midnight market robbery

A 19-year-old Ontario man and a 16-year-old youth were arrested in Upland early this morning after allegedly robbing the Stop and Go Market at Mountain Avenue and D Street in Ontario of a small amount of cash.

The pair, according to West End sheriff's deputies and Pomona police, are also wanted for questioning in armed robberies in Pomona and in the Victorville area in the last several days.

Christopher Lamont Fuller of 1345 W. Phillips St., Ontario, and the youths are being held by Ontario police for questioning in the midnight robbery of the market. According to police Fuller and the youth have been identified by the market clerk, Russell Ford, as the men who robbed his store with a rifle.

Police said the suspects were located in Upland after their description was broadcast by Ontario police. The suspects were seen in a car by an Upland officer and followed to an alley in the 250 block of Benson Avenue in Upland. After Upland police officer Dennis Seegur saw the vehicle stop in the alley, he radioed for assistance and sheriff's deputies. Other Upland police officers and Ontario police surrounded the vehicle still containing the two suspects and another youth.

Officers said they found a rifle in the car along with some cash after the suspects were arrested.

Four are hurt when car hits fence and church

Two women and two children were injured Thursday afternoon when their car on Amdor Avenue in Ontario crossed Sixth Street, crashed through a chain link fence, bounced into a playground and smashed into the north side of Calvary Church in Ontario.

Marilyn Shinn, 43, and her two children, Sharon, 7 and Michael, 10, all of 1551 N. Amador Ave., and the driver of the car, Christine Jewell Lloyd, 40, of 724 Alta Drive, Pomona, were all treated at San Antonio Community Hospital after the 3:36 p.m. accident.

Mrs. Shinn and Sharon were later transferred to Kaiser Hospital in Fontana where they are listed in fair to good condition this morning. Mrs. Lloyd and Michael Shinn were treated and released from the Upland hospital.

Police said the vehicle they were riding may have had defective brakes, and the driver was unable to stop in the intersection. Police said the accident is still under investigation.

Prime Minister refuses apology by 'blackmail'

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson says he refused an Arab guerrilla demand to express "groveling regret" for Britain's part in setting up the state of Israel. It was a condition for saving 20 British lives in last week's air hijacking.

Wilson told the story Thursday night at a dinner of the Labor Friends of Israel. Among the guests was former Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, in London as a foreign visitor to the British Labor party's annual convention.

Wilson told the dinner gathering that "20 British lives were at stake" when four Palestinians hijacked a British Airways VC-10 jet airliner to Tunis Nov. 21 with more than 40 persons aboard.

"To insure they were not killed, I was asked to agree to express the most groveling regret for what was described as the greatest crime to humanity, the establishment of the State of Israel," Wilson said.

"We were talking about 20 British lives," he said. "But there could be only one answer, even though 20 British lives were at stake, and I refused without even calling the cabinet."

The hijackers won the release of five guerrillas under house arrest in Egypt and two others jailed in Holland, but were turned down by every Arab country they asked to give them asylum.

They finally surrendered Monday after killing one hostage, a West German banker. All the British hostages, including the plane's crew, were released unharmed.

The over-all Arab guerrilla group, the Palestine Liberation Organization, said it had arrested 26 persons and will put them on trial for complicity in the air piracy. PLO sources said the organization would execute the four actual hijackers if Tunisia releases them to the PLO.

Cairo newspapers reported today that security measures at Cairo airport have been tightened following the hijacking of the British airliner in the Persian Gulf Sheikhdom of Dubai.

The reports said authorities have been ordered "to search all planes without exception before taking off and that the airliners be put under heavy guard while at the airport."

President just plain 'Jerry' in reunion with teammates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford put aside world affairs and became plain old "Jerry" at a Thanksgiving Day reunion with his 1930 high school football team.

Hosting a brunch for his old teammates and their families at the White House, Ford insisted they call him by the name they knew him by when he led the South High players from Grand Rapids, Mich., to the state championship.

Outside, comedian Dick Gregory and two members of Congress picketed the White House to protest the administration's "lack of concern" for the hungry.

Inside, there was joviality, banter and sentimentality. The close ties of 44 years between Gerald Ford and his teammates and their families soon dispelled any awe the 52 guests felt at being in the White House.

They presented Ford with a desk and pen set featuring a football inscribed "to the President —team captain of South High," and also — recalling Ford's well-known taste for English muffins —a toaster with the inscription "a toast to our captain, Gerald R. Ford, 30-30 Club, 1974."

Arthur Brown of Grand Rapids, the secretary-treasurer of the club, had been an overnight guest at the White House and got up to have breakfast with Ford. The President had his usual muffins, but Brown said he preferred "white toast."

Brown said he got "bawled out" by Ford for calling him "Mr. President."

"I had to go back to 'Jerry'," he said. "He is the same Jerry I used to know 50 years ago."

After three hours of reminiscence around brunch tables in the Blue Room, the whole party toured the state rooms and the family quarters and then moved to the Rose Garden where one-time halfback Silas "Siki" McGee delighted the Fords and the other guests by taking a football and imitating his former team captain running down the field

Edward Preston, who came all the way from Johannesburg, South Africa, said "I wouldn't have missed it for the world — it was worth it."

Blind man in row, suffers knife wounds

A blind man was stabbed and hit on the head as the result of a fight which followed a quarrel in Pomona early today.

But the victim, Anthony Porter, 23, 1120 Del Norte Ave., was reported in satisfactory condition today at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. Police arrested Lamont Fred Wilson, 22, 2027 Wildrose Ave., on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Investigators gave this account:

Porter, Wilson and another person had been out drinking. When they arrived at Wilson's house at 2 a.m., an argument developed and the two got into a fight. When Wilson got a knife from the kitchen, others there put Porter out of the house to prevent further trouble, but he was attacked in the front yard and stabbed three times. Then he was struck on the head with an 8-pound rock.

Here's a real ding-a-ling story

The "ding ding-ding" of a new railroad crossing signal across Cambridge Avenue in Claremont was a rude alarm clock this morning for some nearby residents.

They were awakened by the crossing bell in the 4 a.m. darkness then listened to the dinging continuously until a railroad crew took care of the problem just before 9 a.m., according to Mrs. Julia Gordon of 109 Cambridge Ave. She said she called the Claremont Police Department and the Santa Fe Railway dispatcher.

Police Sgt. Darryl Lindamood said that his department called Santa Fe three times, and explained that for a time there was a little uncertainty between the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe over whose railkroad track was causing the gates to go down and the bell to ring.

General Motors to idle 24,000 in new layoffs

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. today announced a new round of layoffs and plant closings for January that will put another 24,000 employes out of work.

The layoffs include elimination of second shifts at two assembly plants, new production schedules at four others and short shutdowns at six more. They will bring GM's total number of indefinite layoffs in January to 64,000 workers.

Industrywide, almost 112,000 auto workers will be on indefinite layoffs in January, almost equal to the more than 115,000 industry workers who were on indefinite layoffs during last winter's energy-crisis sales slump.

Despite the cutbacks, GM expects to produce 385,000 vehicles in January, compared to 370,000 last January when it was cutting back sharply because of slumping sales.

A spokesman said the number of indefinite layoffs could climb higher than 64,000 in January as the assembly line cutbacks are felt at plants that build parts.

The layoffs and shutdowns are scheduled for plants that build GM's intermediate and full-size cars, and marks the first time since the recent sales slump began that the No. 1 automaker has cut production of those models. Earlier cutbacks were at plants that build slow-selling small cars.

GM said the second shifts at the Fremont, Calif. assembly plant, with 1,600 workers, and the Janesville, Wis. plant with 2,100 workers will be eliminated the week beginning Jan. 13.

Also that week GM will reduce assembly line speeds at its Buick division home plant in Flint, Mich., Oldsmobile home plant in Lansing, Mich., and plants in Fairfax, Kan., and Oshawa, Ont.

The Buick, Oldsmobile, Framingham, Mass., Lakewood, Ga., Lordstown, Ohio, and Pontiac, Mich., assembly plants also face one and two week layoffs in January.

GM also said its Southgate, Calif., plant which along with the Lordstown plant builds the slow-selling sub-compact Chevrolet Vega will be closed the entire Month for "a model changeover." The Vega line was added to the Southgate plant last winter when there was a shortage of small cars.

The automaker would not say what models would be added to the Southgate plant, but it was believed GM may begin building its sporty compact Chevrolet Monza, Buick Skyhawk and Oldsmobile Starfire there. Those cars are now made only at the Ste. Therese, Quebec, assembly plant.

Butz in trouble with Catholics for remark on feeding the poor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The office of Cardinal Terence Cooke has accused Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz of "ethnic mockery and vulgar religious prejudice" for a joking reference Butz made in a mock Italian accent to Pope Paul VI's views on feeding the poor.

A spokesman for the cardinal demanded Butz' resignation or an apology, and Rep. Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., wired the President demanding that Butz be fired.

The dispute arose after Thursday's editions of the New York Daily News reported Butz had dismissed the Pope's advice on the world food shortage by saying in a mocking Italian accent "He no playa the game, he no maka the rules."

Butz made the remark "off the record" to some newsmen at a private breakfast meeting Wednesday, and a spokesman said later the secretary did not orignate the comment, but was simply repeating a story he said had been making the rounds at the World Food Conference earlier this month in Rome.

Responding to the report, Monsignor Eugene V. Clark, a spokesman for the cardinal, said in a telegram to President Ford:

"I call upon Sec. Earl Butz to apologize immediately or resign following his crude, pointed insult directed at Pope Paul VI, spiritual leader of the world's Catholics."

Biaggi sent a telegram to Ford demanding that Butz be fired "for his anti-Catholic, antiItlian remarks concerning Pope Paul VI."

The spokesman for the head of the Romen Catholic Archdiocese of New York asserted the Pope "had his pleas for immediate relief to starving people answered by ethnic mockery and vulgar religious prejudice by Secretary Butz."

"If Mr. Butz can speak this way and remain in your Cabinet," Clark told the President, "Catholics, Italo-Americans and the starving people of the world will all know how poorly they are esteemed by your Cabinet."

A White House spokesman said Ford would have no comment until he talked to Butz and found out exactly what had been said.

Claude Gifford, a spokesman for Butz said the comment came after one newsman told Butz that both the Chinese and the Pope apparently do not agree with the idea that birth control should be used as a means of alleviating food shortages by halting the growth of the world population.

Butz then said a story had been making the rounds of the food conference in Rome to the effect that after the Pope spoke there, an Italian woman was heard to say, "He no playa the game, he no maka the rules."

Gifford said the secretary was "only repeating a story that was making the rounds at the food conference. He wasn't the only one telling that story.

"He was in no sense taking on the Pope."

No intention to impugn any group, Butz says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Catholic leaders of insulting Pope Paul VI and all Italians in a remark about birth control, said today he never intended "to impune the motives or the integrity of any religious group, ethnic group, or religious leader."

"I regret that some such interpretations have been made," Butz said in a statement.

The furor arose after Butz was quoted as having told newsmen Wednesday —using a mock Italian dialect —in commenting on world hunger and the Pope's birth control stand:

"He no playa the game; he no maka rules."

Bangladesh battered by a severe cyclone

DACCA (UPI) — Prime Minister Mujibur Rahman mobilized a giant civilian and military relief force today to aid victims of a severe cyclone that swept across the southeast coast of Bangladesh.

The 90 mile-an-hour winds and 10-foot-high tidal waves battered the coast Thursday, heavily damaging the famine-wracked nation's precarious rice crop.

Initial reports said at least five persons died in the storm, which submerged low-lying coastal areas near the port of Chittagong and off-shore islands.

The Storm Warning Center in Dacca said the wind and water destroyed or damaged houses in the region and cut communications lines. Officials said the winter rice crop, which was almost ready for harvest, was badly damaged.

Heavy flooding in Bangladesh last summer virtually destroyed the past season's rice crop. The government said the previous damage contributed to the starvation deaths of at least 27,600 persons.

Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, trying to head off a new catastrophe, ordered civilian and military authorities to mobilize for rescue and relief work.

Two naval ships left Chittagong, 175 miles southeast of Dacca, for rescue work on outlying islands and more ships were expected to join the relief effort.

The cyclone was the 15th to hit the area in the past 14 years. The worst was in 1970 when official figures showed at least 300,000 persons died. Winds during the 1970 cyclone hit 100 miles an hour.

Since 1891, a total of 135 cyclones have battered the impoverished region.

Bangladesh, a three-year-old nation of 80 million persons, was born during the 1971 Indo-Pakistani War, which asserted India's dominance over the Asian subcontinent.

The Bengalis in Pakistan's eastern region declared independence early in 1971, but had to wait until India's victory at the end of the year before taking over effective control of their new country.

Americans celebrate 354th Thanksgiving Day

By United Press International

Volunteers helped provide a happy Thanksgiving for servicemen and the homeless, China fed shredded duck to a thankful Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, and Indians whose forefathers started the traditional autumn feast sought to recover land long since occupied by the white man.

The majority of Americans, however, either spent the nation's 354th Thanksgiving in front of televisions watching the Macy's parade and football or with visits to relatives for holiday turkey and dressing.

Or, they passed the day as President Ford did, hosting longtime friends.

Not all Americans found reason to be joyous or thankful. According to Labor Department statistics, more than 2.2 million Americans were on November unemployment benefit roles.

In the auto industry alone, from now until Christmas nearly 215,000 workers will be idled because of slumping car sales which are the worst in 14 years.

In Chicago, the American Women's Voluntary Services prepared Thanksgiving dinners for servicemen far from home. The Salvation Army in Chicago served 3,000 paper plate dinners of turkey and trimmings. Similar dinners were held for military personnel and the homeless in cities across the country, and in New York, derelicts along the city's Bowery were fed Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken.

Present-day descendants of the Indians who greeted the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock in 1620 had land, rather than food on their minds this Thanksgiving. Beatrice Gentry, president of the Wampanoag Tribal Council of Gay Head, Martha's Vineyard, Mass., said the tribe would file suit in Boston seeking to recover 250 acres, including the local cranberry bogs, from Gay Head.

"We think non-Indians have taken enough Indian land," Mrs. Gentry said.

In Peking, an orchestra played "Turkey in the Straw" to bring visiting Secretary of State Henry Kissinger as close as possible to a traditional holiday atmosphere. Shredded duck and other Chinese delicacies were served instead of turkey at a farewell banquet in the Great Hall of the People.

Ford played host to members of his Grand Rapids, Mich., high school football team and their wives at a brunch of eggs Benedict, followed by a turkey dinner topped off by cherry pie ala mode.

In Cuero, Tex., five prisoners at the Dewitt County jail ended a three-day hunger strike in time for Thanksgiving dinner. The inmates, who were demanding three meals a day instead of two, got chicken instead of turkey.

Typhoon in destructive sweep across Philippines; eight dead

MANILA (UPI) — Typhoon Irma roared out into the South China Sea today after a destructive sweep across the main Philippine island of Luzon that disabled two ships and left more than 100,000 persons homeless.

Early reports received by relief agencies in Manila placed the initial typhoon toll at eight dead, eight injured, four missing and more than $5 million in crops and property losses.

In the biggest single disaster caused by Irma, a domestic passenger boat with 102 persons aboard capsized Thursday in rough seas about 110 miles south of Manila. Four drowned, two others were listed missing while the rest were rescued. Four other persons were reported killed in other separate storm-spawned incidents.

In another maritime mishap, the Philippine Navy said the 1,712-ton MV Evelina, of Panamanian registry, ran aground off Mindoro Oriental, about 80 miles southwest of Manila. A navy spokesman said rescue teams were dispatched to the scene but they had no immediate word on the number and nationality of crewmen.

The Red Cross said initial field reports placed the number of refugees in six typhoon-affected provinces at 135,193 although they expect the total to rise when isolated areas are heard from.

Irma slammed inland Thursday morning with peak winds of 137 miles per hour and swirled to within 60 miles of Manila, its strength diminished steadily during its overland march and at midmorning today, it was located 200 miles northwest of Manila, its winds had tapered off to 75 mph.

Irma was the strongest typhoon to smash into the country since Nov. 19, 1970, when a storm with identical wind velocity hit Manila directly and killed more than 300 persons.

Ford seeks to cut Medicare for aged, Medicaid for needy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the second time in a week, the Ford administration has taken steps to cut the federal budgets of Medicare health insurance for the aged and Medicaid for the needy.

Similar attempts under President Richard M. Nixon failed. President Ford Tuesday submitted budget-cutting legislation to Congress that would require the aged and the poor to pay more for their subsidized hospital and doctor bills, saving taxpayers $720 million this year. Such legislation in January, 1973, failed to gain congressional sponsors.

Then, on Thanksgivng Day, the government announced a plan to eliminate unnecessary hospital and nursing home admissions and medical services under Medicare and Medicaid. Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said the plan, effective Feb. 1, will save "millions of dollars a year."

"The utilization review procedures spelled out in these new regulations will improve the overall quality of care provided to Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries and increase the overall efficiency of our total health care system," Weinberger said.

The new rules require doctors, nurses and other health professionals to review the admission of subsidized patients to hospitals and nursing homes within two days of their admission.

A stronger proposal last February would have required pre-admission review. The American Medical Association and American Hospital Association threatened to file suit against the government and Nixon persuaded HEW to change its mind.

Holiday traffic takes heavy toll

By United Press International

Highways, jammed with persons hurrying to turkey dinner, had claimed more than 100 lives before the end of the first 36 hours of the Thanksgiving holiday period Thursday.

The death toll counting period began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and by 24 hours later, the tabulations showed over 119 persons dead in traffic accidents, and 142 dead by the time Thanksgiving Day ended at midnight EST.

Eight persons were killed Thursday when their car smashed into a highway overpass abutment at Leeds, Ala., 25 miles east of Birmingham.

Authorities said five men and two women were dead at the scene and another man died later in a Birmingham hospital.

Anne C. Breting

Anne C. Breting of 2460 San Diego Court, Claremont, died Wednesday at her home after a long illness.

Mrs. Breting was born on Aug. 14, 1896, in Nappanoch, N.Y. She came to California 42 years ago and lived in Los Angeles prior to moving to Claremont in 1971. She was a member of Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church in Claremont, the Catholic Daughters of America and St. John of God Auxiliary.

She is survived by a son, Paul J. of Claremont; a sister, Mrs. R. E. Hughes of St. Louis, Mo.; and a granddaughter, Miss Paula Breting of Claremont.

Rosary will be recited tonight at 7:30 in Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church. Mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9 a.m. in the church. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Los Angeles.

Friends may call at Todd Memorial Chapel Claremont from 2 to 5 p.m. today.

Irene Garcia

Rosary will be recited tonight at 7:30 in Memory Chapel, Forest Lawn Covina Hills, for Mrs. Irene Garcia of Fontana.

Funeral Mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9 a.m. at St. Joseph Catholic Church in Fontana. Burial will follow in Forest Lawn Covina Hills.

Mrs. Garcia died Wednesday at the Balboa Naval Hospital in San Diego following a long illness.

Mrs. Garcia was born Jan. 24, 1926, in Pasadena.

Survivors include her husband, Bob; two sons, Sgt. Bob Garcia in Taiwan and Don of Fontana; two daughters, Mrs. Marlene Rodriques of Ontario and Irene Garcia of Fontana; six sisters, Mrs. Minnie Coleman of Alhambra, Mrs. Florence Kelly of Glendora, Mrs. Anne Roberts of El Monte, Mrs. Connie McLean of Florida, and Mrs. Mildred Fetters and Mrs. Jean Weeks, both of San Dimas; three brothers, John Garcia of Altadena, Alfred Garcia of Monrovia and Jess Garcia Jr. of Glendale; and two grandchildren.

Gordon Lamotte

Gordon Lamotte of Montclair died Wednesday at Upland Convalescent Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Lamotte was born Jan. 21, 1887, in Canada. He had lived in Montclair 42 years.

He was a retired employe of Pomona Pump Co.

Mr. Lamotte is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jacqueline Abercrombie of Pomona; a sister, Mrs. Zella Krugh of Alhambra; a brother, R. G. of West Los Angeles; and two grandsons.

Services will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at Draper Chapel, Ontario, with the Rev. William Rice officiating.

Burial will be at Bellevue Cemetery, Ontario.

Paul S. McDonald

Paul S. McDonald of 301 E. Foothill Blvd., Pomona, died Thursday morning in Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Mr. McDonald was born Nov. 17, 1905, in Massachusetts and came to California in 1933. He was a publisher of several newspapers throughout the state. In 1957, he came to Pomona and became associated with the Wood Flong Corp. as a newspaper consultant. He retired in 1971.

Besides his widow, Charlotte G., he is survived by two sons, Dennis and Ronald, both of Pomona; and four grandchildren.

Services were held today in the Pomona Mausoleum. Mr. Clovis Watson officiated. Entombment was made in the Pomona Mausoleum.

Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona was in charge of arrangements.

Claude "Lee" Nelson

Claude "Lee" Nelson, 24225 Alamado Lane, Diamond Bar, died Thursday in Glendora Community Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Nelson was born June 9, 1937, in Traverse City, Mich. He was president of Inventors' Guild International. He was a member of the Lions Club and the Moose Lodge. He was a volunteer political campaign worker.

Mr. Nelson was a member of St. Denis Catholic Church in Diamond Bar.

Surviving are his widow, Marlene; two daughters, Lisa and Kathy, at home; a stepbrother, James Tucker of Stanton; two sisters, Gerry Franklin of Glendora and Sandra Weber of Traverse City; a half-sister, Paula Kay Baldwin of Kingsley, Mich.; a stepsister, Luana Dizel of Cadillac, Mich.; his father, Lewis Nelson of Traverse City; and his mother, Mrs. Helen DeCormier of Winchester.

Rosary and prayers will be recited Saturday at 10 a.m. at White's Funeral Home in Azusa.

Burial will be in Queen of Heaven Cemetery in Rowland Heights.

Martin S. Rustvold

Martin S. Rustvold of 1131 Baughman Drive, Claremont, died Wednesday in a Pomona convalescent home after a lingering illness.

He was born July 16, 1877, in Norway. He moved to San Diego in 1914 and lived there until four years ago when he came to Claremont.

Survivors include three sons, Harold S. and Rolf C. both of Claremont, and Gerhard O. of Anaheim; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Larson of Chula Vista; and a sister, Mrs. Clara Larson of Jackson, Minn.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. in the Mt. Hope Cemetery, San Diego. The Rev. Norland Hanson of San Diego will officiate. Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona has charge of arrangements.

Israel troops battle terrorists on eve of nation's anniversary

By United Press International

Israeli troops patrolling inside Lebanon battled a squad of Palestinian guerrillas and killed five of them, the Tel Aviv military command reported today. One guerrilla escaped.

The first frontier clash in a month took place north of Kibbutz Dan Thursday night on the eve of Israeli celebrations marking the 27th anniversary of the U.N. vote to create the Jewish state.

"We were on a routine patrol near the frontier and by the light of the moon we saw a group of terrorists about 100 yards away," a member of the Israeli patrol said in an interview with the armed forces radio.

He said the equipment they carried indicated "they were aiming at hitting one of the settlements" inside Israel. "It was a hard, fierce firefight."

A military command spokesman in Tel Aviv said there were no Israeli casualties in the battle near the collective settlement at Dan, built on the site of ancient Israel's northernmost outpost.

The Palestine News Agency said in Beirut the guerrillas attacked an Israeli army camp northwest of Dan with artillery, rockets and machine guns, but gave no casualty figures.

"A big confrontation battle took place between the revolutionaries and the enemy forces in the area," the news agency said.

The Beirut newspaper An Nahar quoted Arab diplomatic sources today as reporting Egypt has told U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim it will reject any Israeli withdrawal from Sinai unless it is accompanied by a similar withdrawal from the Golan Heights.

Sinai is Egyptian territory, while the Golan Heights are Syrian territory. Israel has occupied both since the 1967 Middle East war.

An Nahar said Egypt felt that the peace efforts of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger "were not enough by themselves" to accomplish any serious advance towards a peaceful settlement of the Middle East crisis.

"Egypt also says that it will not discuss any political issue in the crisis with Israel outside the Geneva (Arab-Israeli peace) conference, and that the resumption of the conference is a basic condition for the accomplishment of any advance in plitical efforts," the newspaper said.

"Egypt emphasized its agreement with Syria that the coming six months are a period of testing of Israeli intentions and the international peace efforts, especially those of the United States, to show if settlement efforts are advancing or going in a vicious circle," the newspaper said.

Arab nations' petrpdollars threat to world economies

By RICHARD HUGHES
United Press International

It is conceivable that a handful of Arab nations and Iran could make or break the mighty U.S. economy as well as the economies of other industrial nations.

In less than two years, the oil-rich Arab nations have accumulated billions of dollars in a transfer of economic power unprecedented in history.

In one year, Saudi Arabia tripled its monetary reserves to $11.5 billion making it the fourth in the world behind West Germany, the United States and Japan.

By conservative estimates, the Arab oil exporting nations have accumulated some $60 billion in reserves, nearly equaling the $70 billion in after tax profits of all U.S. corporations.

What this means in effect is that the newly acquired wealth of the oil exporting nations is sufficient to buy most of the U.S. economy and more than enough to seize economic control over other major industrial powers.

This vast new wealth was accumulated in less than 18 months through the quadrupling of crude oil prices by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which produce 70 per cent of the world's exported oil.

The rich are likely to get richer. The World Bank estimates that by 1980, OPEC countries will have accumulated $630 billion in surplus funds and by the end of 1985, $1.2 trillion.

The sudden transfer of billions of dollars to the treasuries of OPEC nations put a severe strain on the world's financial structure, contributed to worldwide inflation and placed some nations, such as Italy, on the verge of bankruptcy.

Money is power, and how the newly rich Arab nations use it will in large part determine how the free market economies of the world weather the current economic storm.

Walter J. Levy, an independent oil consultant, predicts that until the oil exporting nations are able to absorb the vast influx of "petro dollars" into their own economies "their surplus claims on the rest of the world's future will go on pyramiding."

Nations that rely heavily on imported oil "from a range of Italy down to India" are now or soon will be broke, heavily in debt to the oil producers, Levy said. The United States and West Germany are being placed in the position of having to underwrite the oil debt of the poorer nations, thus undermining their own economies.

Recently, Great Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, Denis Healey, warned of economic disaster unless the petro-dollar surpluses can be recycled to provide consumer countries with the oil they need and keep their economies afloat. "Otherwise, he said, "the world will see a slump at least on the scale of the 1930s."

WASTED ENERGY — The fact that no one from Mt. Hood College in Gresham, Ore., showed up at Bellevue, Wash., for the game with Seattle Community College, didn't dampen the Mt. Hood cheerleaders spirits at all. They went through all routines as their team won this week 89-70.

Costly self sufficiency

By EDWARD K. DeLONG

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Energy experts at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology say any attempt to make the United States totally independent of foreign oil supplies in the 1980s would cause consumer prices to skyrocket.

Instead, the MIT Energy Laboratory Policy Group said, the government should build up huge new stockpiles of crude oil that could see the nation through any new embargo applied by the oil producing countries.

The group said a blend of stockpiling and other measures offers the best way to reduce embargo risks and at the same time hold the line on oil prices.

"The U.S. alone among major industrial nations has no provision for stockpiling crude oil beyond normal inventories," the group said in an 89-page report published by the private, nonpartisan American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research.

Discounting the effects of inflation, the report said prices equivalent to $11 to $13 per barrel of oil would be necessary to increase U.S. fossil fuel production enough to satisfy domestic markets without imports in the 1980s.

New energy czar

Zarb described as 'cool' and 'tough'

Ask around the government about Frank Zarb, President Ford's nominee to head the Federal Energy Administration, and the descriptions you'll hear most often are "cool" and "tough."

Zarb, at 39 and with just three years in government, has gained a reputation for surefooted administration and deft trouble shooting in the unforgiving world of energy policy and the federal budget.

When truckers threatened revolt over speed limits and fuel allocations, it was Zarb the government called upon to cool the passions and work out solutions —one of many such assignments. He succeeded.

Success is familiar to Frank Zarb. Putting an investment banking career behind him, he joined the government with a Labor Department job in 1971 and in just two years was an associate director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the powerful executive agency that says where, when, how and how much federal money is spent.

William Simon, first "energy czar" when the oil shortage developed last year and now Treasury secretary, borrowed Zarb from OMB to help organize and run the new bureaucracy born amid crisis. And when John C. Sawhill moved from OMB to succeed Simon as the energy chief, Zarb quickly moved into Sawhill's OMB slot —associate director for national resources, energy and science.

Inevitably Sawhill and Zarb found themselves coveting the same next rung above in the increasingly important energy field —executive director of the Energy Resources Council established by Ford a few weeks back. Zarb won, only to be nominated for another promotion —head of the Federal Energy Administration —before he could rightly get going on the last.

"Zarb is tough," says a man who worked with him in Simon's Federal Energy Office and came away with appreciation for his coolness under stress. "He is not to be messed with. He is a high-powered individual."

A man of small build and a pipesmoker —a habit that gives him a mulling-it-over-look — Zarb is a native New Yorker and holds a masters degree in business administration from Hofstra University.

Sawhill says oil firms lobbied for his ouster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Outgoing Federal Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill says some oilmen lobbied hard for his ouster.

He said Tuesday that he does not know whether that had anything to do with his resignation from the FEA. He disclaimed direct evidence of any "undue influence" by the oil lobby on the energy agency.

Sawhill did tell a Joint Economic Committee hearing that the power of the oil lobby surprised him when he came to Washington.

"Do you believe the oil industry exercises undue influence in government?" Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., asked Sawhill.

"It certainly does exercise a lot more influence than I realized when I came down here. Whether that constitutes undue influence or not, I cannot say," Sawhill replied.

He added: "I was just surprised at the tremendous number of people here in Washington connected with the industry."

Mood of America: Chicago worries about the nation

By DAVID SMOTHERS
UPI Senior Editor

CHICAGO (UPI) — In suburban Chicago, the big worries now are inflation, unemployment, and doing something about getting Americans to like each other again.

In a sense, most Chicagoans seem to have put Watergate behind them. In the neighborhood bars they would rather argue about sports. In the corner grocery stores, the talk is about how to pay the weekly food tab and buy clothes for the kid.

The gut worries are finding or keeping a job, salvaging enough of the paycheck to keep the refrigerator stocked, and maybe saving enough extra to someday own the family home.

The mood is that America should start taking care of America.

The sour taste of Watergate lingers. Chicagoans, used to being conned by public officials, sense they have been had.

Chicagoans are rarely surprised when those who are supposed to be their public servants are indicted or go to jail. It could be said the Chicago electorate is conditioned to the political fix and more or less expects it on all levels.

Bob Reuter, a service station owner, John G. Elliott, who describes himself as a conservative Republican, and Willard Labrie, a middle class black, are three men working in Chicago talking about Watergate, Richard M. Nixon, President Ford, and the future of themselves, their families, and their country.

Variously, they reflected personal consternation, a sense of being doublecrossed in Washington and elsewhere, and a hard-nosed cynicism which could be called typically Chicagoan.

Reuter, Elliott and Labrie are not a typical cross-section in that each has made good in his own pursuit, ranging in order from garage owner to business consultant to federal bureaucrat.

Yet a common theme runs through their talk:

—What Ford called "the nightmare of Watergate" (Elliott prefers to substiture the word "specter") is not behind them.

—Each was shaken by the Nixon pardon.

—Each felt relieved Nixon was gone. But each, in varying degrees, wondered whether Ford can truly put Watergate behind him and turn to the ills afflicting the nation—inflation, in Reuter's priority; divisive and disruptive special interests in Elliott's, and unemployment in Labrie's.

Reuter, 32, is co-owner of Dennis and Bob's Standard Oil station on Chicago's North Side. He and his wife, Kathy, live in suburban Skokie with their six children. He makes "$20 grand a year" and it cost him $1,000 just to outfit four of them to go to St. Lambert's school in Skokie this fall.

Elliott, 32, is a business consultant making "about $40,000" a year, a graduate of two universities, father of three grown sons, and for 15 years a resident of suburban Park Forest, although he once swore he would never be a suburbanite.

Park Forest, although the two men do not know each other.

Labrie, 32, also lives in Park Forest. He is a Louisiana Delta farm boy who managed to make it through Grambling College, the Kansas City ghetto, Utah's School of Psychology. He now is Illinois director of Action, a federal program to coordinate "all of the volunteer programs in the federal government."

Labrie, the father of three, gets more than $22,000 a year in a federal paycheck and says of his employer, "Ford is kind of a letdown now. There was no reason to believe he would show more attention to blacks but there was reason to believe he might. But I don't think he's going to pull to the center. He's a prisoner of what's gone before him, the pattern of Nixon."

They are three quite different sorts of men, but they agreed on one point: none wanted to live in Chicago because, each believes, it is no place to bring up children or hope that they will be decently educated.

Reuter began his life and has always worked in the neighborhood called Rogers Park, but "I kind of feel safer out there in Skokie—I don't know why," Elliott said. "At this point in my life I wouldn't particularly look forward to any kind of hassling on race issues or political issues or anything else." Labrie would like to live in a black community, rather than largely white Park Forest, but Chicago is "no place to bring up kids, black or white. I cannot be a martyr, I can't afford to wait until they come up with some good schools for my children."

Of these three, Reuter is the only native Chicagoan. He "started from zero," puts in 12 hours a day at Dennis and Bob's, makes a good buck but feels it somehow isn't buying the kind of life he wants.

Elliott, who came to the Chicago area from South Bend, Ind., 15 years ago, tends to be an optimist. He thinks that if congressmen, economists and news reporters would stop talking so much about recession, it might go away faster.

Labrie is smart, skeptical and street-savvy. He says he has had "a taste of what the other side lives like" and doesn't want his family to be denied that taste.

Each was asked what bugs him most about America right now:

Labrie: "Right now, in the inner city of Chicago, it's just a struggle to get out. Any improvement would have to be in the long term, two or three years. And that's so far in the future for people in the inner city to plan for: you just can't plan for three years when you're really planning for tomorrow, day after day.

"You can't just sit up there and say, hey, two or three years I'm going to do better. Ford talks about curbing inflation but he's surely not talking about us. He's talking about still helping big business build up a backlog of profits so that they can ride through the next administration.

"Inflation cut the black's purchasing power in half. I think it's going to get worse.

"You know, when unemployment goes up, the South Side (of Chicago) goes down. Businesses have to close down— they were marginal businesses in the first place. There was a guy who owned a chicken franchise on the South Side who last year bought chicken at 27 cents a pound. Today he couldn't get it for less than 37 cents a pound. He had to close that up. People just quit buying chicken—and they didn't love it in the first place."

Elliott: "I'm bugged by the special interest groups who make up a relatively small segment of the population and attempt to make decisions on all of us. The unions, environmentalists, perhaps, certainly business groups like the milk association that was involved with Nixon in the Watergate environment.

"There's a psychology associated with what's happening in the country that I think is very important.

"Every day in the newspapers we have some senator or some congressman or some government official reenforcing the recession theory or concept, telling the nation what we are in for again and again. I think if you

Inspires students

A successful approach to effective teaching

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Frank Estavillo has decided to spend his last two years in teaching among minority children.

It should come as no surprise.

Estavillo, 63, has spent most of his 40 years teaching Mexican-American children to cope with a system geared for Anglos.

Estavillo was chosen Arizona Teacher of the Year this year by the Arizona Department of Education because of his "superior ability to inspire students of all backgrounds and abilities."

The fourth grade teacher at Government Heights School in Tucson School District One has been overcoming obstacles in his own career since he was born one of 13 children in Clifton, Ariz.

Despite an impoverished background, his early struggle with the English language and an accident in which he lost his left arm while hitching a ride on a train in California in the 1930s, Estavillo is considered an outstanding educator by his principal and peers.

Rather than complete his career at a primarily white East Side school where he had been for a year, Estavillo chose to teach bilingual classes at Government Heights.

Three of his students speak only Spanish.

"I remember my first days in elementary school. Nobody was speaking my language. I couldn't understand them and they couldn't understand me. It was something I never forgot," said the father of two.

There are many educators who remember Estavillo's early method of teaching. Lupe Anderson, a library clerk at Government Heights, was a student of Estavillo's in the late 1940s.

"He was individualizing his class long before anyone else was doing it. He knew each of us had a different background and a different rate of comprehension. He adapted his teaching to everyone of us, and as a result we all learned so much more from it."

The individualized form of instruction is Estavillo's trademark. "I try to prepare children for the future not only economically, but morally as well. I try to be as original and creative as possible in the choice and use of my teaching tools. I really can't think of anything I do that is that unusual."

His students react differently, however, and are a clear indication of his successful approach to teaching.

Lorraine Schwarts, who submitted Estavillo's name for the teacher of the year, said: "Everytime I visit his class, he is involved in some type of artistic program with his students. He doesn't tell them, but shows them how to do something.

"He is so good at what he does, he could have probably been a successful craftsman if he wanted to. His children are very fortunate, however, that he decided he wanted to be a teacher. It's as though the children are thinking to themselves, 'If he can do so well with one arm, certainly I can succeed with two.'" Estavillo's name will now be placed in competition for the U.S. Teacher of the Year award which will be made in December.

Toronto blaze destroys mail and terminal

TORONTO (UPI) — A predawn fire roared through Canada's busiest mail terminal in downtown Toronto Tuesday, destroying thousands of letters and forcing 60 workers to flee.

The blaze destroyed the four-story building but firemen, battling the flames in 19-degree weather, saved a famed city landmark, the adjoining Great Hall of Union Station.

Police cordoned off the area around Bay and Front streets for more than four hours, disrupting morning rush-hour traffic.

The fire erupted only five months before postal authorities were scheduled to begin phasing out the 53-year-old building.

Santa's getting more than his usual share of letters

HELSINKI (UPI) — The world's children are writing to Santa Claus in record numbers this year. Many show the Christmas spirit by asking him to give gifts to others.

Brian de Sales Smith of Mechanicsburg, Pa., wrote Santa asking for a toy, but said, "I mostly would like God to make grandma well again."

Alexander Goatcher of Scarborough, Ont., sent a Canadian dollar and said, "Here is some money for presents for little children who have no mummy or daddy."

Many of the world's post offices have traditionally sent children's Christmas mail to Helsinki because local legend says Santa lives on Korvatunturi Mountain in Lapland, high above the Artic Circle on the Finnish-Soviet border.

Earlier this year, the Finnish post office halted handling of the letters, citing lack of manpower. But the Tourist Board put pressure on government officials and the post office changed its mind.

Authorities believe a record number of letters will be sent to Santa this year. Last year, more than 3,000 children wrote to him from overseas.

Every child who writes receives a handwritten answer on a multi-colored page with drawings of Santa, his helpers and the reindeer.

The letter reads:

"I was so pleased to get your letter and to hear that you remember me. In the pictures you can see how my brownies are busy getting ready the presents for good girls and boys all over the world.

"Soon I shall set off on my travels and bring gifts to my friends in many lands —and to you too. With best wishes for a happy and peaceful Christmas. Santa Claus."

The letters to Santa come from North and South America, most European countries, Australia, India, Japan, the Persian Gulf and South Africa.

In one childishly scrawled note, Denise Bostwick of Miami, Fla., told Santa, "I have never gotten a letter from you and if I had one I would keep it always."

"But even if you can't write, God bless you, Santa, and thanks for making us kids happy in this sometimes troubled world," Denise wrote.

Banker doesn't see depression

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Richard K. Leblond II, vice chairman of the Chemical Bank of New York, predicted Tuesday that the Western World is not heading for a 1930's-style depression.

"I have a more optimistic viewpoint," Leblond told a luncheon here at the end of a European tour. "There are already some encouraging signs of improvement...We are not headed for a worldwide depression similar to that of the '30's."

Leblond said he believed the U.S. economy will turn upward in the last half of 1975, the inflation rate will decline to 7.5 per cent by the end of next year.

Play of honor proves costly

By Osvald & James Jacoby

We aren't going to try to settle the argument about whether North or South bid too much on the way to six hearts. Suffice to say that with West sticking in a club overcall, the bid figured to be a loser.

West opened the jack of spades and East made the mistake of rising with the king. There was little purpose in that play. His partner had not underled the ace. If East had hung on to the king, South would have wound up one trick short of his slam.

South grabbed that king with his ace and noted that his queen-nine were now established as the top tenace in that suit.

He proceeded to run off all six trumps while discarding two spades, a club and a diamond from dummy. Then he cashed dummy's three top diamonds to discard his own eight of clubs.

South was now left with the queen-nine of spades and king of clubs. West in back of him decided to hang on to two spades and a club.

Now South led dummy's club. West won the trick and had to lead a spade right into South's tenace.

Biggest case in history

Massive welfare fraud

MRS. LINDA TAYLOR

By JEFFERY L. SHELER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — Investigators probing a Chicago welfare fraud case have uncovered evidence of what they say could be the most massive public aid-bilking scheme in the nation's history.

Joel Edelman, executive director of the Illinois Legislative Advisory Committee on Public Aid, told the committee it may take months to finish the investigation of charges against Lynda Taylor, 47, of Chicago.

Mrs. Taylor was arraigned this week in Cook County Circuit Court on a 31 count fraud indictment involving her alleged receipt of illegal welfare benefits, medical assistance, food stamps, Social Security and veterans benefits.

"When the entire story is told, I believe this will prove to be the most massive case of welfare fraud that has ever been perpetrated in the 50 states," Edelman said. "It baffles the imagination."

Edelman said evidence uncovered by the Chicago police and state and federal investigators indicates Mrs. Taylor masterminded a sophisticated, interstate scheme in which she used 80 different names, 30 addresses and 15 telephone numbers.

She is accused of receiving benefits on behalf of three deceased husbands and 27 children —some of them supposedly born after Mrs. Taylor allegedly underwent a hysterectomy in Florida.

Sen. Don A. Moore, R-Midlothian, chairman of the committee, said new evidence indicates Mrs. Taylor may also have posed as a physician in Chicago and Michigan in a plot to illegally obtain Medicaid payments.

"We know for a fact she is not licensed to practice anywhere," Moore said.

Moore said state welfare officials cannot estimate how much Mrs. Taylor may have received illegally throughout the entire scheme, part of which he said dates to 1946.

He said she has received at least $150,000 annually from the state in cash assistance alone.

State yells 'fraud' on cut-rate tour airline

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The state attorney general's office this week filed a civil suit charging so-called "nonprofit" airline Freelandia with false advertising and fraudulent business practices.

The suit, prepared by Deputy Attorney General Allan J. Goodman, seeks $2,500 in civil fines for each act of false advertising and other illegal business practices, an injunction to halt such acts in the future and the appointment of someone to see that refunds are made to Freelandia members.

Freelandia, Inc. was founded by Kenneth Moss, 31, who said he started the airline club so that persons with less money than he could have the same opportunities as he did to travel.

Moss, who made $1.5 million by age 26, said when he first organized the club, he did not expect to make a profit, but was confident that he would get a return of his $1.5 million investment.

Freelandia Air Travel Club was certified by the Federal Aviation Administration Aug. 7, 1973. It operated out of a Sherman Oaks, Calif. office, and catered to the young.

For a $50 membership fee, Freelandia offered low-cost airfare all over the world. For example, a flight from Los Angeles to New York would cost $69, New York to Brussels would be $100 and Hawaii to Oakland would cost only $69.

Moss said that by keeping its equipment moving, instead of sitting idle while club members were in one city, Freelandia's plane would make a continous circuit of tour cities every 10 days.

Rock music, homemade bread and cheeses, chess, checkers and beer were features during the flight.

According to the suit, Freelandia falsely told members it has frequent stops to many destinations; that flights do not depend on sale of all seats and that membership fees would be refunded if the airline failed to fly members to certain cities.

For elderly men

New cancer breakthrough

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force is running short of an exotic rocket fuel used to launch spy satellites and can't find a firm that wants to make it.

Part of the reason is new manufacturing safety standards imposed by the Labor Department because a chemical used to make the fuel is suspected of causing cancer.

The fuel is unsymetrical dimethylhydrazine, better known to those who care to grapple with it as UDMH. It fires the Titan rockets used to launch Apollo moon missions, scientific satellites, and the spy in the sky satellites which keep track of Soviet military activities.

An Air Force spokesman said UDMH "is in short supply but we don't consider it critical."

However, the service has gotten desperate enough to break open 2,200 old Bullpup air-to air-missile motors now in storage in order to extract UDMH. The fuel from all those small motors will only be enough to launch one Titan.

The spokesman said the shortage would mean a delay of some flights. Officials said scientific and communications launches would bear the brunt and insisted no spy satellites would be affected.

The problem began to develop two years ago when the FMC Corporation shut down its Baltimore, Md., UDMH production line because it wasn't selling enough UDMH to make production worthwhile.

A few months later the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration said nitrosodine thylamane, a chemical used in producing UDMH, can cause cancer in workers exposed to it.

By last February the Air Force still had found no new source of UDMH and saw problems ahead. FMC said the Air Force came to the firm asking it to fix its plant to OSHA standards, resume production and bail the service out.

But FMC would agree only to produce one 3 million pound batch before closing the line permanently. That's enough for only about 60 Titan firings.

An FMC spokesman said the plant was old and outdated, the product had a limited market and so wasn't very profitable, and the firm anticipated still tougher OHSA safety standards and wasn't willing to keep supplying the Air Force.

With FMC adamant the Air force must still find a steady supplier in order to keep its spy satellite launches going uninterrupted after the last batch is exhausted.

The Air Force said statistics on how many satellites it launches each year and how much UDMH was on hand are classified.

UDMH is also used to power the Army's 70-mile range Lance missile, 100 of which were recently sold to Israel.

Exotic rocket fuel

Air Force complains of shortage

By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dramatic improvement was reported today in the experimental use of an anticancer drug for treating advanced cases of prostate cancer in elderly men given only a few weeks to live.

Although the drug did not eliminate all signs of the disease, Dr. Gerald P. Murphy, director of the Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., reported significant tumor shrinkage in 52 per cent of 106 patients studied for up to 24 weeks.

None of the successful cases has yet had a relapse although the cancer had spread too much for a cure to be considered possible.

"These are patients who are on the skids," Murphy said at a news conference before reporting to the second day of a national cancer conference.

"They've had everything. Their life expectancy is but a matter of a few weeks. So the fact that you get stability and remission and relief is most surprising. The surprising thing is they're still alive."

The drug used is called cyclophosphamide, an agent long used to fight other forms of cancer.

Surgery and radiation are now the primary forms of treating cancer of the prostate gland, a disease expected to strike 56,000 elderly men this year. Two thirds of the patients eventually die of the disease.

The prostate treatment was one of a number of improvements in cancer treatment being reported at the meeting, a conference for physicians sponsored jointly by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute.

Dr. Guy R. Newell, deputy director of the cancer institute, said goals of the three-day conference are to get the latest information out to doctors treating cancer and to generate enthusiasm in fighting the nation's No. 2 killer.

A PLACE TO SIT

Instructor Marshall Miranda watches as Lanny Carmona, 8, paints the side of a cardboard tubing. When topped and completed, the tubing will become a stool. Some 60 students, 6 to 12, take part in the learning program at the college.

Saturday School eases rift between expanding college, wary neighbors

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

They start gathering at the old gym behind the big tent every Saturday morning at 10, some 50 or 60 boys and girls 6 to 12, many of whom would not have been caught on the campus of La Verne College a year ago.

They come to play, but they do it through learning. They come to meet their friends, but there are few cliques. The Mexican-American children seem to lose their shyness; the Anglos shed their reserves, as they join for dozens of projects.

Everything is free — the material, the instruction, the participation — and anyone can come and go as he pleases. There are no grades, no competition, no pressures. No one has to prove anything.

"All we ask of the children," Robert Burns, director of the Saturday School, a joint venture of the college, the Mexican-American Urban League and the La Verne City Council, said, "is that when someone asks for a piece of paper or a stick of wood, he create something."

There are usually 10 or more volunteer instructors around to help. But their instruction is low key; nothing has to be accomplished.

It's the experience of doing, of getting involved that counts. Creations can be as simple as coloring a piece of paper, or as difficult as carving a figurine.

The simplicity of the program and the basic idea that learning through involvement can be fun is beginning to pay dividends on a level far beyond the original concept.

For the acceptance and support that the college could not gain from the adjoining Mexican-American community three years ago is beginning to come through the free Saturday School.

"The children are telling their parents what they're doing in school," Frank Vidaure, codirector, explained. "The parents see that it is good. They are re-examining their suspicions that the college is only interested in itself. They're beginning to accept it as part of the community, an institution which can benefit everybody."

That concept is a turnabout from the attitude of the Mexican-American community which for decades had feared that college expansion to the north and west would mean the end to their neighborhood.

It was three years ago that the community had fought the college to a standstill on a proposal to expand in those directions, and forced the expansion toward the east instead.

What came out of that impasse was recognition of the need to establish a better flow of communication.

"Our neighbors have gotten the wrong impression about our goals and objectives," L. B. Newcomer, president of the college, worried. "We've got to show them that we care, that we want to be friends, that we want to work side by side."

Newcomer had wanted to establish nursery schools and other services throughout the community, but the climate was not just right after the big confrontations of 1970 and 1971.

One of the leaders of the fight against the expansion was Frank Vidaure, a La Verne College student at the time. His value as a negotiator was subsequently recognized not only by the college but also by the La Verne City Council which had named him to its Planning Commission.

Last year, using federal funds, Vidaure established the El Centro School for bilingual children not far south of the college.

Shortly after that, Burns joined the La Verne faculty and began a free Saturday school for children in the neighborhood. Burns and Vidaure met in a graduate class given by Burns last spring, and came to the conclusion that they could do a more effective job if they joined their efforts.

The result is the present undertaking which caters to both the bilingual students and the Anglos.

There is no limit to the program. Some children do arts and crafts, others learn how to read and write. Some play musical instruments, others learn to type or manipulate the cash register. Plans call for an occasional field trip, boating or flying, all at no cost to the children.

The space is donated by the college. Funding is being obtained from the federal government by the Mexican-American Urban Coalition, but it probably won't come until next July. In the meantime, the La Verne City Council, recognizing the value of the Saturday School, has given $3,000 to the program.

The money is being used in a "scrounging operation" through which Burns and Vidaure buy up discarded material useful to the school for a pittance, as well as hardware, paint, used power tools, and other bric-a-brac.

Burns says he has nearly 30 contacts among the area's industrial firms.

"When they learn what the scrap is for, they usually let is have the material for next to nothing," he shrugs. "Of course, we'll always need scrap the kids can work with."

The scraps needed include cardboard tubings and sheets, wood fabrications, newsprint, paints and brushes, lumber, almost anything. Those who have them are asked to call Burns at the college, 593-3511 ext. 295, or Vidaure at the urban coalition, 593-4533, for pickup.

There are plenty of tutors, all unpaid, including Burns and Vidaure. And the flow of tutors is assured.

Some are volunteers from the intercoalition center, others are students from a human effectiveness class Burns teaches. Still others come from a master's candidates' class in curriculum.

"One of the requirements of my courses is practical training," Burns explains. "When I was going through my doctorate program I found that there was a lot of theory, but nothing practical was really happening. I like to do things differently. I like to think that the students in my college classes are doing something that brings change into the lives of the kids they work with."

Burns is proving that the traditional way of teaching by imparting knowledge is not the only way.

He hopes that his experiment can eventually become the forerunner of the "womb to tomb" type of education which the college has been trying to establish in the community for the past two years.

But neither he nor Vidaure worry too much about that. They feel that if they can concentrate on fulfilling the little needs of the community, the big concepts will take care of themselves.

CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR HER DOLLS

Five arrested in probe of amphetamine sales

Sheriff's deputies from the West End Substation and Ontario police, working in conjunction with the San Bernardino County Narcotics Task Force, arrested five persons Friday suspected of selling and possessing amphetamines.

Lt. Olly M. Gray of the Narcotics Task Force said that the five arrests were made after a woman sold amphetamine tablets to an undercover agent.

Following the arrest of the woman in Ontario, a search of her residence uncovered approximately 10,000 amphetamine tablets, according to police.

Further investigation resulted in the search of a second residence on Francis Avenue in Chino, where four other suspects were arrested and smaller quantities of amphetamine tablets were confiscated.

Booked at the sheriff's substation in Ontario were Jeffrey Allen Harless, 18, of 14152 S. Euclid Ave., Chino, for possession of amphetamines and marijuana for sale; Marcella Jean Hart, 22, of 374 Garnet Way, Upland, for possession of amphetamines: Charmaine Gaye Florian, 22, of 4744 W. Francis Ave., Chino, for possession of amphetamines and marijuana for sale; Gary Watson Hartless, 24, of 3733 Francis Ave., Chino, possession of amphetamine and marijuana for sale; and Kathleen Harriet Roark, 20, of 11667½ Yorba Ave., Chino, for sale and possession of amphetamines.

High school science award winner picked

John Lesko of 10284 Marion Ave., Montclair, is winner of the annual Bausch & Lomb Science Award at Montclair High School.

The award will be presented at the awards assembly next spring.

This award recognizes a senior with high scholastic standing in science, according to school officials.

Winning the award qualified Lesko to compete for a four-year scholarshp at the University of Rochester in Rochester, N.Y.

College parley to hear state schools chief

Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, will speak at La Verne College during a multicultural inservice conference Jan. 23 and 24.

Riles will be one of three main speakers during the two-day seminar dealing with current problems of racial and ethnic minorities. He will talk on the "Need for Multicultural Inservice Education."

Others on the program will be Dr. Harry Kitano, professor of social welfare at UCLA, and Dr. John A. Carpenter, assistant dean and professor of social foundations at USC.

The conference is being sponsored jointly by La Verne College, the Los Angeles County Office of Education and the state Department of Education.

Contests highlight opening of Indian Hill Village shop

A series of events is planned this weekend to launch the new boutique center at Indian Hill Village.

Village owner Spence Clark will participate in a ribbon-cutting ceremony at the boutique tonight at 7. He will be assisted by Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire.

This will be followed by an open house.

Three events are scheduled Saturday. They are a Goofy Olympics, a Bonanza Balloon Bust and a Girl Watcher's Contest.

The Goofy Olympics will be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and will be open to anyone of any age. Events will include a watermelon seed spitting contest, a bubble gum blowing contest, a doughnut eating marathon, a cartwheel marathon, upside down pushups and a contest for longest hair.

The Bonanza Balloon Bust will follow.

The Girl Watcher's Contest will be held from 2 to 4 p.m.

Village promotion director Sam Florence said the express purpose of the contest is to get a group of men together just to watch girls. Women of all ages are invited to participate, simply by walking past the panel of "foxy male chauvinists."

Florence said there is $200 in cash prizes awaiting women who take part.

Traffic accident hurts passenger; driver disappears

Highway patrolmen are seeking a driver whose car ran off Carbon Canyon Road near Chino Wednesday night, injuring a passenger.

Dionicio Garduno, 28, of 13010 Fourth St., Chino, the passenger, was transported by a private car to San Antonio Community Hospital with facial lacerations. He was later taken to San Bernardino County Hospital.

The car was going east on Carbon Canyon Road at a high speed and the driver failed to negotiate a curve, said officers. The car ran off the roadway and struck a stone wall and cyclone fence.

When questioned at San Antonio Community Hospital, Garduno said he knew the driver only as "Junior." Officers did not locate the driver at either the hospital or accident scene.

They checked the car's registration and learned the owner is spending the Thanksgiving holidays in Mexico and isn't expected to return until Monday.

Moose president will visit lodge

Ray Otto, president of the California Moose Association, will be the guest of Pomona Moose Lodge 650 for dinner and enrollment Saturday.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. The enrollment ceremony will take place at 8 p.m. It will honor past director general Paul P. Schmitz of the Supreme Lodge.

Otto holds the Pilgrim degree, is past North Moose, past Deputy Grand North Moose and past governor of the Stockton Moose Lodge.

The affair is open to members of the Loyal Order of Moose and their guests.

Two state groups oppose it

Judge presses on for prison court

Despite recommendations against a proposed court facility at the California Institution for Men, Superior Court Judge Richard Garner is still confident final approval will be given.

Such a court would permit inmates to appear for trials and other legal matters without having to leave the prison grounds.

The proposed facility received a double setback recently when both the state's Judicial Council and the California Council on Criminal Justice (CCCJ) recommended against it. Both groups were concerned over the effect on jurors in holding trials on the prison grounds.

The Judicial Council, chaired by Chief Justice Don Wright of the California Supreme Court, is comprised of judges, attorneys and lay members. It has the prime responsiblity of administering the court system in California and to set standards and regulations for the courts to follow.

Garner, presiding judge of the San Bernardino County Superior Court and a long-time advocate for such a court facility, said he was not discouraged by the recent actions by these groups.

"Judicial change is a long and tedious fight," he explained.

Garner reported the Judicial Council met first and passed a policy recommending against establishing a court in prisons. The CCCJ members, who met later, received the Judicial Council's recommendation and voted against a proposed $247,620 federal grant for building of the proposed facility.

Judge Garner, who wasn't aware that the two groups were considering the prison courts, then met Monday with Chief Justice Wright in San Francisco and showed him plans for the CIM court facility.

"Judge Wright then invited me to write a letter to each member of the Judicial Council and ask they defer any additional action until I appear before them," said Judge Garner. "I do plan to meet with the members at either their December or January meeting."

Judge Garner said some members had adverse feelings regarding prison courtrooms because of a proposal to construct one next to the San Quentin Prison walls.

At CIM, he added, the facility will be located at Central Avenue and Edison Street in an area now used as a cow pasture. The facility will be a long distance from any prison buildings.

Public access would be off Edison Street with inmates from the men's prison and adjoining youth facility entering through the back area.

Gov. Ronald Reagan had previously signed a bill authorizing the court's construction. But before work can start, final approval must be given by the CCCJ, said Garner. The court's cost is estimated at $495,239.

The San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors had sought approval of such a court to prevent a repeat of the Ronald Beaty escape two years ago in which a prison guard was killed and another wounded while en route from the prison to a San Bernardino court.

"The prison court is a new and innovative idea. And to overcome the status quo is not an easy task," said Garner.

Crafts and dancing classes at YMCA

Classes in crafts and ballroom dancing will get underway soon at the Pomona YMCA.

The macrame crafts class will begin Wednesday, and run through the week of Dec. 18, from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays. Cost is $5 for members and $7.50 for nonmembers.

Ballroom dancing will begin Dec. 9, and will be held Monday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. for five weeks.

Instruction will include dances such as the swing, fox trot and cha-cha. Jack and Linda Clark will be instructors for the class.

Cost is $20 per couple or $10 per person. Further information is available by calling the Y at 623-8433.

College session on language disorder

A workshop in "Language Sampling: Techniques and Implementation" will be held at La Verne College next weekend.

The instructor will be Teris Schery, program specialist for the diagnostic education team for severe oral language disorders in the office of the Los Angeles County Superintendent of Schools.

The program is part of the college's weekend series. Hours will be from 5 to 9 p.m. on Friday and from 9 to 4 p.m. Saturday.

The workshop will acquaint participants with an in-depth systematized approach for obtaining and analyzing spontaneous language samples.

Opinion

Create jobs, then whip inflation

A scarcity of jobs, not of food, may be the real challenge facing the world in the coming decades.

According to a Ford Foundation study — "Employment in the Developing Nations" — despite economic gains in many less-developed countries, unemployment is increasing at an alarming rate.

Because of unchecked population growth, the labor forces of the developing nations have been growing twice as fast as those of advanced countries and will nearly double over the next 30 years. Joblessness, as high as 10 per cent in many cities, is double that rate for the 15-24 age group in many places.

Visible unemployment in the urban centers of developing countries is but "the tip of an iceberg." Other forms of underutilized labor include those working less than they would like to work, those engaged in "second choice" activities and those prematurely retired.

The belief that full employment and redistribution of income would follow naturally from economic growth has not been borne out. In many cases, policies adopted by the developing countries themselves have aggravated unemployment — for example, the introduction of technology designed for advanced economies that created few job opportunities, and the failure to disperse capital to rural areas where employment needs are greatest.

Among the study's recommendations:

— Because international barriers to trade, migration and the flow of capital and information seriously constrain the generation of employment opportunities in developing countries, one way advanced countries can help is gradually to eliminate their inefficient, labor-intensive industries and open their markets for products which less-developed countries can produce competitively.

— Developing countries in turn can increase employment opportunities by encouraging more labor-intensive products, by diffusing economic activity to the countryside and by eliminating capital subsidies which tend to favor the more glamorous, technologically advanced means of production.

"Programs for increasing food production and limiting population growth are natural and straightforward parts of a war on hunger," notes Ford Foundation president McGeorge Bundy in a foreword to the study.

Unemployment, on the other hand, "seems a rather more elusive evil, and discouragingly unresponsive to the direct 'makework' programs" that have been tried in many countries."

Is the gap closing?

The so-called generation gap is much overrated.

So says Gisela Konopka, professor of social work at the university of Minnesota and director of the university's Center for Youth Development and Research.

The barriers that do exist between young and old are primarily artificial, she argues, and fear is the main reason for their existence.

There is fear of the unknown and fear of change, aided and abetted by the repetition of catch phrases like "generation gap," "breakdown of the family," "future shock" and "permissiveness."

Families today may actually be moving toward closer relationships as they become more democratic, she thinks. Fast and easy transportation and communication allow physically separated families to get together often. Rather than destroying the family, increased mobility may be recreating the pattern of the neighborhood family.

The new family relationship is not "permissive" in the sense that one can always do what one wants. Rather, it means that adults must consciously share their value systems with the young and expect challenging and questioning. Young people in turn have to think through their value systems.

"We cannot always build agreement," says Prof. Konopka, "but we must try to build trust."

Congress on TV

Chalk up another spinoff from Watergate. Congress may go on the air during its regular sessions.

The joint Committee on Congressional Operations has recommended live TV and radio coverage on a one-year trial basis during 1975. It would start with a 60-day closed circuit test period for TV, 30 days for radio. If the committees supervising these tests approve the results, video and audio feeds of floor sessions of both houses could be made available free to commercial and public broadcasters, for use live or on tape in public affairs and news programs.

With a slight touch of envy, the committee report notes that presidents have become somewhat sophisticated in the use of broadcast media. Congress, on the other hand, "has followed an approach to communications that is essentially passive and in some instances restrictive."

The non-passive, hardly restrictive airings of the congressional Watergate hearings evidently have proven to be an almost irresistible stimulus to a great many of our federal legislators. It is hoped that the public will be represented during the test runs by some expert and brave critics to make sure that Congress doesn't go show biz.

A plaintive hope to be sure.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

Work together to pass override

The most discouraging and frustrating aspect of the defeat of Proposition "QQ" is the demonstrated lack of support for Pomona schools by the taxpayers.

Apparently, taxpayers seem to forget that the issues are not budgetary mismanagement, school board unresponsiveness, sex-education instruction, or teacher inefficiency. What is being discussed here are children and young adults, and the education that is so vital and necessary to their lives. Have the taxpayers forgotten that this community's greatest natural resource is its children?

It seems that taxpayers have been so intent upon complaining about individual parts of the school system, that they have been blinded to the purpose for quality education in Pomona schools.

It is easy for them to advocate activity, class or teacher cutbacks in school curriculums and budgets. But they haven't stopped and analyzed what they are saying. What group or part of the school system would be the most unfavorably affected? Obviously, it is the students who would suffer most. Cutbacks in school budget would only lower the quality of education that children receive at Pomona schools, at the direct expense of the children.

Taxpayers who have written to the "Public Forum" such as Mrs. C. L. and P.A.B. (Progress Bulletin, 11-12-74 and 11-19-74 respectively) insist that Pomona schools should first prove that they can deliver quality education to their students without more money. Then and only then will more money be given to them.

These taxpayers, and those who agree with them, miss the point completely. What Mrs. C. I. and P.A.B. are really advocating is that children should wait, stay and suffer while a school without sufficient operating funds continues to operate.

How will our schools prove that they can deliver quality education when they are required to cut back on their programs and staff members in order to accomplish it? This is a cruel paradox, and the Pomona taxpayers are responsible.

Taxpayers should demand to see the Pomona school board's 1974-1975 school budget. Suggestions and complaints should be directed toward individual members of the school board. In other words, the only way to make the Pomona school board responsive to the needs of the community is to literally "put the heat" on the members. Make the members listen, understand and act according to the members of the community. Direct the school board — don't let it direct the people.

Taxpayers and school board members must work together in the creation of a "tax override" or "revenue limit" proposal, or such propositions like "QQ" will continue to fail and continue to disenchant and discourage the community. The longer both groups wait, the worse education at Pomona school will become. — Kenneth B. Swart, Pomona High School class of '74.

Taxpayers still pay for Nixon retreat

WASHINGTON — Despite all the rhubarb over secret expenditures on former President Nixon's estates in Florida and California, federal money is still being poured into the Key Biscayne compound.

A team of General Services Administration (GSA) workmen are busily ripping out partitions and repairing walls in at least two of the buildings just as if Watergate never happened.

And seven Secret Service men are still puttering around the premises on vague security details, even though the former President has not even visited Key Biscayne since he left office on Aug. 9.

When we approached the General Services Administration concerning the continued use of federal manpower and material for the Nixon home, a spokesman huffily denied any such activities.

But when my associate Bob Owens pointed out that, posing as a sandal-shod Florida tourist, he had observed the comings and goings of the government workmen, GSA conceded repair work was going on.

It was only fair to "restore" the homes of Nixon and other rented dwellings in the compound to their pre-presidential condition, the GSA said. One of the homes under repair is owned by Nixon crony Robert Abplanalp.

Actually, the government had already done considerable work on Abplanalp's home. While it was being used by the White House, it got a $1,667 paint job and other improvements.

The GSA said the new work would be completed by Christmas, although the negotiations to get compensation from Nixon for improvements on the Key Biscayne property may go on for months.

Still at issue, for instance, is whether the Nixon-designed "security fence," costing $66,314, and $4,786 worth of carnation hibiscus shrubs surrounding it will be paid for by the ex-President.

The Secret Service, meanwhile, has pulled out most of its detection equipment. The Coast Guard has phased out its five-year-old $2 million patrol of the Nixon beach area. And the Navy has removed the $20,267 shark net which had protected the waterfront swimming areas of Nixon and his friend Bebe Rebozo.

UNDIPLOMATIC SLIP: Rarely do America's envoys in rundown foreign capitals relax their stiff upper lips and criticize their hosts.

But a "Limited Official Use" cable in the State Department's file drawers bluntly reveals how U.S. Ambassador to Nigeria John Reinhardt regards his militarist hosts.

Apparently upset over a proposed junket to the Nigerian capital of Lagos by Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., Reinhardt wired the State Department that appointments with government leaders might be hard to line up because the Nigerians preferred fun to fidelity.

"Must state frankly that arranging Sunday meetings with FMG (Federal Military Government) officials will not be easy," the diplomat cabled, "most of whom cannot be budged to attend any weekend gathering which is remotely official."

Reinhardt then switched to the Javits' hotel reservations. "I am having some second thoughts about the adequacy of Ikoyi hotel accommodations, which are only ones available," he wrote. "Hence, I urge that Senator and Mrs. Javits stay at residence, where I believe I can arrange some informal gatherings with articulate FMG representatives and at the same time, hopefully provide a few amenities not otherwise available in Lagos."

Concludes the document wryly, "Assume that senator's seeming reluctance to spend two nights in Lagos stems from city's earned rating among the world's least inviting. However, we can guarantee some compensations for one eager to feel the African pulse which beats rapidly and strongly in Nigeria."

WASHINGTON WHIRL: The Small Business Administration, which often turns down loans to struggling companies because of lack of funds, held its most recent meeting of regional bigwigs at Las Vegas' MGM Grand Hotel. The hotel is one of the most lavish in Las Vegas, giving SBA officials a chance to wine and dine sumptuously and pace on thick carpets as they pondered the plight of pood businessmen.

Pity the second class powers

The Pentagon has been complaining a lot lately that if we don't hurry up and start spending more money on weapons and equipment, we are going to become a "second-class power." The Pentagon, however, never explains exactly what it means to be a second-class power, so for clarification we consulted Otto von Overkill, chairman of the International Power Rating Commission.

"The question is very simple," Overkill said. "On the one hand you have got your 58th-class powers, such as Upper Volta, Lichtenstein and North Dakota. On the other hand, you have got your first class powers, such as the U.S.A., the Soviet Union, China and IBM.

"Now if somebody becomes a second-class power, that means they aren't allowed to fight with the first-class powers anymore. And if they try, they get 11 points added to their aggressiveness rating but they lose 177 points from their discretion is the better part of valor record.

"Also, second-class powers are not allowed to invade anything higher than a 19th-class power, and your second-classers are not allowed to join in discussions about whether or not it is a good time for the end of the world, although they are allowed to send observers."

Overkill said that the criteria for deciding who is a second-class power are very strict.

"The most important thing, of course, is how much money you spend for bullets and tanks and stuff," he said. "That's why it's always better to buy a new fighter plane that costs $4 million apiece than it is to buy one that costs only $1 million. You want to keep your spending average right up there with the leaders.

"Another important criterion is the number of admirals and generals you have. As everyone knows, if you have a lot of admirals and generals—and they have fancy cars and private golf courses—you must be a pretty tough country."

Though Overkill's position requires him to be neutral toward any powers he may have to rate, he concedes off the record that he is pulling for the U.S. to remain a first-class power.

"Look, I'd hate for the Chinese and the Russians to be able to go around saying, 'Nyaah, nyaah, second-class power, second-class power' when you Americans have been up there with the firsts for such a long time," he said. "After all, it took a real first-class power to fight the Vietnam war, didn't it? It takes a real first-class power to be able to afford the F-14, doesn't it?

"And just think of what might happen in the U.S. became a second-class power. Before you knew it, they'd all be second-class powers and then they might not have so much inflation. Everyone would be happier and they wouldn't even need power ratings anymore.

"Then I'd become as obsolete as a manned bomber. That would be a fate worse than death."

Just in jest

It has come to my attention that the U.S. Agriculture Department now has 80,000 employes. And you know what? It wouldn't surprise me in the least to learn that worked out to about one government official for every farmer in the country. Whether that is or is not the correct ratio, I can understand the government's thinking in connection with that 80,000 manpower figure. After all, it takes a lot of official prodding to keep farmers on the ball so there will be more wheat to sell to Russia. — But even though I understand government thinking, I still reserve the right to question it. Wouldn't we perhaps be a lot better off foodwise if all those 80,000 Agriculture Department employes were put to work down on the farm growing and harvesting crops instead of sitting in wall-to-wall carpeted offices telling the farmers how to do it?

Sahl's gibe on TV shows his bigotry

WASHINGTON — Mort Shal's slur, if it had been made about blacks, Chicanos, Indians, Poles, Italians or any other minority group, would have incurred the wrath of the network gods. But since the offending party was a self-acclaimed "liberal" and the offended group simply the cops — well, case dismissed.

I pass the following item along because, in its incidental way, it reflects the mind-fix of certain social elitists who call themselves "liberal" but are in fact bigoted.

It happened on late night television, the viewing of which is a noxious habit, like smoking, which ought to be restrained if not completely broken. This particular late night, however, there was a good reason to stay up and watch. Milton Berle was to host a special on the history of comedy.

Now, for whatever this admission reveals about the writer's low-to-middle brow tastes, Milton Berle is among my favorite comics. An artist with a nuncomplicated, spontaneous gift for making people laugh, Berle would have been as much at home breaking up audiences in the Shakespearean pits as he is working to the unseen television millions of today.

In addition, Berle happens to be a serious student, however anomalous this might sound, of the comedic arts. So it was that when the American Broadcasting Company thought to do a late night special on the anatomy of laughter, Uncle Miltie was their man to moderate the show, which would feature an assortment of interviews an old film clips from Chaplin and Keaton movies.

It promised to be an enjoyable way to unwind after a long day, when who should appear on the the small screen alongside Berle but that genius of left intellectual satire, Mort Sahl.

You don't remember Mort Sahl. Well, I guess that's really not too surprising because Sahl died, as they say in the jargon of his trade, along about 1960. Oh, he's still around in body. But after Eisenhower left office and Sahl didn't have John Foster Dulles to kick around anymore, his act passed away, somewhere on the outer limits of the New Frontier.

Anyway, there was this wraith of Mort Sahl, dropping the word "liberal" every three lines as if to reassure us that the faith was being kept, and talking about the good old days when he would substitute for Lenny Bruce.

Bruce, who is physically departed but artistically alive, spent the last years of his life in a running hassle with civic censors. He would be arrested for using obscene language in his night club act, then call on Sahl to fill in until lawyers could arrange bail.

An interesting story so far. But at this point, I sensed the coming of a shift in emphasis, away from Lenny Bruce and back to Mort Sahl's favorite subject: Mort Sahl. Suddenly, you see Sahl begin chuckling, a leitmotif of his late style. Nobody ever enjoyed Mort Sahl's liberal intellectual barbs at right-wing establishment boobs more than Mort Sahl himself.

So he would fill in for Lenny Bruce, Sahl was telling us (chuckle), and the cops would come to the night club to see if he too, was going to use obscene language (chuckle chuckle), and they would bring their notebooks and tape recorders (chuckle, gasp).

But he never got busted like Lenny, said Sahl — not that he was incapable of upsetting the censors. No, it was because (at this point our liberal intellectual friend dissolved into a paroxysm of self-appreciation) "I never found a cop who could understand what I was talking about."

Roars of laughter from the studio audience. And if, instead of "cop," the word had been (choose one of five) "black," "Chicano," "Indian," "Pole," "Italian"?

A mind-fix, as I say. Not of all who call themselves "liberal," but of enough to make a case that among some Americans who claim to know better, a pernicious elitist bigotry flourishes.

It isn't necessary to respond to Sahl's small-minded gibe by reciting statistics on the average I.Q. and educational qualifications of the country's law enforcement officers; though liberal intellectuals who find that sort of line funny might have their stereotypes shattered if they chose to look into those figures.

Rather, let's leave it at this: since nobody else is going to raise hell about this defamation, I figured I would. And as for Mort Sahl, while I don't wish ill of the dead, should he ever need help may he have trouble finding a cop who'll understand him.

Boys home finally gets lens; movies on again

We would appreciate any kind of help you could give us in locating a lens for our 16mm film-sound projector.

Without this lens, our projector is of no use to us.

The lens was broken a couple of years ago and we have been trying ever since to find a replacement.

We have checked with several camera shops in this area but they have been unable to locate the size lens we need. —R. S., La Verne.

You identified yourself as Robert F. Shimansky, recreation director of LeRoy Boys' Home.

As the lens you needed was a Bell & Howell product, we referred your request to the firm's office in Glendale.

Elaine Thomas of the firm sent you a "house telegram" stating that the part you wanted was not in stock at the Glendale plant so she had notified the Chicago office of your need.

She said you would hear from that office soon.

You did. You told us that after you tried unsuccessfully for over two years to replace the broken lens, we were able to find a source for replacing it in less than a month.

You added that your projector is now in operating condition and you are able to show the boys good movies for their entertainment.

Three years and eight months ago I bought an organ. I made a down payment which left a balance of $3,500.

Last month a Los Angeles firm took my organ in trade for another.

When I asked for my interest payoff, I was told by the Los Angeles firm that there wouldn't be any, that the finance company didn't give any consideration to having the contract paid off early.

So now I have to pay all the interest for the remaining year and four months even though I made 44 payments and never missed a one. —R. M., Pomona.

You told us you felt someone owed you between $300 and $400.

We took your problem back to the finance company. We were assured that you would receive the partial refund required by state law in the circumstances you describe.

Unfortunately, it amounts to less than $100 although your total finance charge was nearly $1,200.

I was wondering if you can help me get some information on medical help dealing with cancer.

I know of a family where the father has cancer but is without finances to seek advice that will run into much expense.

The family does have medical insurance. But outside advice is needed because the prognosis is very bad and I feel they should consider another opinion before giving up hope. —Mrs. J. D., La Verne.

We advised you to call the American Cancer Society office in Pomona. The phone number is 623-0616.

When the society cannot give direct help, it makes referrals to agencies which can.

ANN LANDERS

With the proper cultivation, often a wallflower can become late bloomer

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please lend a helping hand to some folks who would rather die than admit they need it? I refer to the over 20 and 30 group (both men and women) who have been wallflowers all their lives.

Suddenly they get asked out, or get enough courage to invite someone to accompany them, and then turn into babbling idiots or nervous wrecks.

My tall, handsome, painfully shy, 23-year-old cousin just went on his second date. He couldn't think of a thing to say to the girl and felt like a complete fool. The evening ended with him driving his car over her bicycle which was lying in the driveway. Now he figures he's such an awkward jerk that he won't ask her out again.

I know a 33-year-old career gal who was so nervous on her first date (yes, I said first) that she ate part of her dinner napkin — thought it was a piece of bread. For months, she refused to accept another invitation from a man.

Please give these people encouragement, Ann. Tell them all they need is a little practice. And there are more of them then you think. — Friend To The Lonely

Dear Friend: What these lonely people need is (1) brains enough to ask the right questions (everyone loves to talk about himself), and (2) a sense of humor.

I was no wallflower, but I once cut up and ate a lace doilie under a meringue dessert, thinking it was coconut. When I realized what I had done, I apologized openly to the hostess, announced that the doilie was delicious and everyone, including the hostess, thought it was hilarious.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a good friend who is my age (55) but she is so vain she refuses to wear glasses. I know her eyesight is not good, but she tries to bluff her way through. When we shop together she always asks me to read the price tags. What really galls me is the way she snatches my glasses off my face when we are in a restaurant so she can read the menu. (She never asks, just reaches over and takes them.)

Mrs. Bat-Blind's head is larger than mine and she bends my frames all out of shape. I can feel my blood pressure mount when she does it. Please tell me how to deal with this woman without looking like a sorehead. — Glassed In

Dear G.I.: The next time Mrs. Bat reaches for your specs, catch her hand before she gets to them. Say, "Sorry, if you need glasses, get some of your own. You've bent my frames out of shape for the last time." Then offer to read the menu to her.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 15-year-old boy who is worried about my dad. Seven years ago, he went to a place for alcoholics and stayed there for several weeks. When he got out he didn't touch liquor for two years. Then he began to have "just a few" because he was sure he could handle it.

Now he's in terrible shape again, the same as he was seven years ago, but he won't go for help. Mom and my brothers have tried everything to get him to see the truth. Can you say something that might help? — His Son

Dear Son: There is no way an alcoholic can "have a few" and handle it. Your dad should never touch a drop.

If he refuses to get help, your mom should join Al-Anon and you kids should join Al-Ateen. Look in the phone book under Alcoholics Anonymous and ask for details.

What kind of wedding goes with today's new life styles? Does anything go? Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's Guide" tells what's right for today's weddings. RATTLES & STRAWS

The name is the name of the game

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

I love to call it "Frisco" to people who live in San Francisco because it enrages them so. Why do they get uptight? Nobody down in Southern California gets sore when you call Los Angeles L.A. Maybe it's San Andreas' fault.

Funny the things we do with city names in casual conversation, especially the people who live in the area. The fine old Spanish name of San Bernardino degenerates into "Berdoo' in the usage of the residents. "Let's go over to Berdoo tomorrow." Ghastly.

The worst barbarism of all, of course, is San Diego, splendid Early California name with religious connotations — known to a generation of swabies as "Dago." "Hey, when we get shore leave, let's really paint Dago red!"

Familiarity breeds consent, as the philosopher says. We're too lazy to say Redondo Beach and San Pedro, so they become simply Redondo and Pedro. Lovely Santa Catalina Island is just Catalina, and majestic Mt. San Antonio is more popularly known at Mt. Baldy.

The unlovely abbreviations are not the exclusive domain of Southern California. You get "Chi" for Chicago in the Midwest, and St. Loo for St. Louis, especially in Mizzou (Missouri.) Easterner's speak of Jersey but never of York.

Interesting to note what is dropped from a name. Laguna Beach becomes simply Laguna; Hacienda Heights is Heights; Palm Springs is "the Springs" and Twenty-nine Palms is "the Palms." In Florida you can't say just "the Beach," because that might be Palm, Daytona, Miami, Deerfield, Neptune, Coronado or a dozen others. Florida is a beach.

Some city names defy mutilation. What are you going to do with Indianapolis or Galveston or Coeur d'Alene? It's a cinch to drop "La" from "Jolla" and "San" from "Jose," and no one loses his shirt any place but Vegas. Names like San Juan Capistrano practically cry out to be abbreviated or nicknamed.

I used to live in Port Washington, Long Island, known to us saddle-shoe swingers as "Port," but you had to be careful because there was Port Chester, Port Jefferson, Port Henry and a half a dozen other "Ports" in the storm. (Port Washington was near Great Neck and Little Neck and not far from Middlesex. No wonder I grew up confused.)

Where would you start with Albuquerque or Chihuahua or Chillicothe or Rensselaer?

THE DOCTOR COMMENTS

Handling of esophageal stricture

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have an ailment in swallowing food. The food lodges between the esophagus and the entrance into the stomach. I have had an emergency situation where it was necessary to be admitted to a hospital and have the steak that had lodged in this area removed. Twice since then I have had rubber tubes inserted to stretch this entrance to the stomach. This has been particularly successful.

There are times when phlegm appears in this passage to a point where it is impossible to take food at that time. I have been told that I do not have a hernia in this passage nor did the X rays show one.

There are times when a swallow of water or any liquid causes such pain and total obstruction of the esophagus that I feel that I have taken my last breath. Food with moisture, like milk on cereal or gravy, cannot be eaten as this type of food causes the trouble as stated above.

DEAR READER — You have an esophageal stricture. Usually this is the result of many years of intermittent irritation of the lower esophagus. The acid material in the stomach leads back into the lower stomach and causes the irritation. Doctors call this esophageal reflux.

Normally the lower esophagus is protected by a valve or sphincter mechanism that closes the passage between the esophagus and the stomach. When it doesn't work right, the leak occurs. Often this is associated with a hiatal hernia, but it can occur without a hernia.

Through the years the irritation causes scar formation. The contracted scarred area produces the obstruction. The small opening may not allow the passage of solid food. That is why the steak lodged in the opening.

The use of dilators to stretch the opening is good treatment and is often successful. The pain you describe is spasm of the muscles in your esophagus. It can be quite severe, bad enough to bring tears to the eyes of a strong man.

Even though you don't have a hiatal hernia, you should follow the same routine. You need to prevent the leaking of acid material into the lower esophagus that causes the condition to progress.

Just think of it as if your stomach were an open bottle and you don't want it to spill into your esophagus. You will need to limit the size of your meals, avoid lying flat, and don't have a tight belt or any constriction around your waist. For more information on living habits that apply to your problem, write to me at P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for the booklet on Hiatal Hernia. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

You will need to keep your stomach acid neutralized, too. Small amounts of anatacids every hour during the day, or at least every two hours, will be helpful. You may also need some at night. You should really do as much as you can to limit the problems of the reflux to avoid further scarring and obstruction.

For Saturday, Nov. 30

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Someone you've been wanting to hear from will be getting in touch. There will be lots of small talk to catch up on.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Use some of your time to put your bills and records in order. Reevaluate your budget. See where you can trim some waste.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is one of those days where you need active challenges to keep you busy and content. You're up to handling them now.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your sense of humor can be used as a very effective tool today. You'll get your points across without offending anyone.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A misunderstanding you've had with another can be rectified now. The other party is eagerly waiting to hear from you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something important to you can be gained today if you're flexible and prepared to change tactics on a moment's notice.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone you'll be talking to will put you on the track of a good idea. Treat it seriously. Something worthwhile can come of it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Before you get yourself involved in a new situation that will cost money, spend ample time investigating all the aspects.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There's more than one good solution regarding something that you'll be faced with today. Weigh your alternatives carefully.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Now is the time to discuss things that displease you with co-workers. Better methods will be arrived at through a meeting of minds.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A new social interest will be found, and even though it's just temporary it will prove quite stimulating and be a welcome change of pace.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Things will be buzzing about your dinner table this evening as everyone will have something to say. All will try to get their two cents' worth in.

Your Birthday Nov. 30

You'll be joining an organization where you'll make many new contacts this year. Besides taking an active role, there's some travel associated with this new interest.

Odd insensitivity protects boxers

Relatively rare is the fellow whose nerves are so constructed that he feels no pain from cuts, bruises, broken bones. But as you might guess, prize fighting attracts these abnormal men more than does any other occupation, studies show. Researchers tested 97 boxers in New York City sometime back, and 87 of them proved to be afflicted, or blessed, whichever, with this odd insensitivity.

Common is the belief that a receding chin betrays a weak character. Recent studies contradict that notion, however. They purport to show that a receding chin frequently signifies impatience, enthusiasm and mental quickness. Put a large nose above that receding chin with a receding forehead above the nose, it's said, and what you get is a citizen capable of making swift decisions. Interesting, if true.

Ford boosts position in White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has enhanced his position in the White House as a result of his first successful adventure into global diplomacy.

The whole question of his ability to handle foreign affairs has been open since he became President Aug. 9 with the resignation of Richard M. Nixon. As a congressman from Grand Rapids, Mich., Ford for the past 25 years has been more concerned with domestic problems.

But in the White House, he wanted to quickly establisn his credentials in the field of statesmanship, which Americans have come to expect of presidents since World War II.

Ford also was following in the footsteps of Nixon, who paved the way for an era of detente and set the stage for summit agreements to limit the nuclear arms race.

Ford's two day Siberian summmit meeting with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev resulted in a tentative agreement to limit, and later perhaps to reduce, nuclear arsenals in the next decade.

No buildup

The triumph seems greater because there was no advance buildup that such an agreement was possible at this time. In fact, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told reporters in Vladivostok, "We didn't come here to make an agreement. We are not going to make an agreement here."

The summit was viewed as a get-acquainted session with Ford getting his feet wet in personal diplomacy. The fact that much more was achieved adds to his laurels, although it is clear that this was the moment that both sides wanted a breakthrough.

The change in the mood and atmosphere was in glaring contrast with the pessimism that prevailed in July when Nixon and Brezhnev tried to work out a SALT II accord.

It was claimed that the Russians believed Nixon was a fading political figure, much weakened by his Watergate woes, and decided not to cut a deal.

The July summit ended in failure although Nixon and Kissinger tried to put the best face on it.

Kissinger insisted to reporters that domestic problems should not be permitted to interfere with the conduct of foreign policy; that Watergate ended at the water's edge.

Nixon, too, hoped for a triumph in Moscow to shore up his reputation and to increase his chances for survival by boosting his popularity polls.

Blamed by Kissinger

But now Kissinger blames the domestic situation for failure last July. He explained to reporters at Vladivostok that for a "variety of reasons" the time was not right for an agreement. He now concedes Nixon's Watergate problems added to the difficulties.

He also maintains that Nixon was hampered by his being a "lame duck president," a point he makes even though Nixon won election by a landslide and had nearly two and a half years more to go in the presidency.

Kissinger is now like a proud professor when he speaks of Ford. He told reporters Ford was "tough and unflappable."

Kissinger also said that Soviet planners would have to consider Ford as a "six-year phenomenon" because he is running for the presidency and in this century only one incumbent, Herbert Hoover, has lost when running for re-election.

Ford soon will make another foreign trip, this time to Martinque to meet French President Valeri Giscard D'Estaing in an attempt to heal the differences between the United States and France.

It is doubtful that Ford will be encouraged to make as many trips abroad as Nixon did, because the nation's economy is in dire straits and begging for a solution.

But the two foreign journeys are bound to broaden Ford's image when he runs for a full term in the White House in 1976.

Honeymoon six years away

Convicted murderers married in prison

CRANSTON, R.I. (UPI) — Knowing it will be at least six years before they get a real honeymoon, convicted murderers Walter C. Jordan and Linda Kane toasted their wedding vows with ginger-ale punch and returned to separate prison cells.

Their simple ceremony inside the bleak gray walls of the Rhode Island Adult Correctional Institutions Monday night was disclosed Tuesday by prison officials. It followed more than a year of wedding pleas and denials and confirmation that the new bride is five months pregnant.

Jordan, 30, is serving a 37-year term for the beating death of a 73-year-old woman. His wife, 29, was sentenced to 30 years in 1971 for the shooting death of a 4-year-old daughter from a previous marriage. He is eligible for parole in 1977, she in 1980.

"They do not want to have their marriage considered as a side show," said David Chiras, an attorney with the Inmate Legal Assistance Program.

"I feel that they probably have a better chance of making it on the street after their period of incarceration than a good many others here."

The wedding was held inside the women's facility, the bride given away by Guard George Fortier. Rev. Leonard S. Redlawn, a chaplain, officiated. Best man was inmate Ronald Parenteau. His wife, Claire, was allowed inside the prison to act as matron of honor.

Women correctional officers bought a bouquet of chrysanthemums for the bride. Other female prisoners paid for the ginger ale and sherbet punch and pastries consumed during a 45-minute reception.

The couple will be allowed once a week supervised visits "across the table" but no conjugal visits. After birth of the child, they will see the infant together monthly. The baby will be placed in a temporary foster home until at least one of the Jordans is released, corrections officials said.

"The wedding was approved only because there was a child or at least the conceivement of a child in this case," said Donald D. Taylor, acting director of corrections. "The consideration of the child's welfare was of prime import."

The conception occurred while the Jordans were minimum security prisoners —she a housekeeper in the prison Administration Building, he driving a tractor on the farm. Both are now classified as maximum security prisoners but seek reinstatement to their former status.

More restrictive measures are being initiated to make sure similar incidents do not occur, said Taylor, adding he knew of no other instance of inmate-to-inmate marriage in the nation.

Big payoff

Americans received $20.3 billion in payments from life insurance policies and annuities during 1973. That year-end total was 9.4 per cent greater than the previous year.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The National Weather Service defines a blizzard as a wind of 35 miles an hour or higher, with temperatures 20 degrees Fahrenheit or lower and sufficient falling and/or blowing snow to reduce visibility to less than one-quarter of a mile, The World Almanac says. A "severe blizzard" has wind speeds of 45 miles an hour or more, temperature near or below 10 degrees Fahrenheit and visibility reduced by snow to near zero.

Fish in pond may be attracting the cat

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our cat, Underfoot, is too much. His latest trick is swimming in our goldfish pond. He really loves to swim. Did you ever hear of a cat who liked the water? — C.C.

Dear C.C.: Yes, a few. And even more who are partial to fish. Its possible Underfoot loves both and is trying to develop a technique to swim and fish simultaneously.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Terry Tarantula's my pal and has been for many months. He's a lot of fun and a great conversation piece, except all my friends are afraid of him. I handle him all the time and he never bites. He's really very friendly. Can you assure my friends that tarantulas are friendly and that their bites aren't dangerous anyway when they do, which he doesn't? — I.D.

Dear I.D.: True, tarantulas do tend to be friendly provided you don't press for their friendship too fast. There's no assurance, however, that Terry wouldn't bite a stranger, not that the stranger might not be allergic to bites from insects and bee stings, or similar toxins. Similarly, allergic reaction to tarantula bites could be serious in susceptible individuals. Otherwise, though, a tarantula bite would be of no great consequence, except perhaps from the shock factor if the victim had been led to believe that pet tarantulas simply don't do such things.

Lima military shuts down 2 mags, deports reporters

LIMA (UPI) — The military government shut down two of the last independent news magazines in Peru recently and ordered nine journalists deported.

The government accused the magazines and the reporters of conducting an anti-government campaign.

The move came after the two weekly magazines, Oiga and Opinion Libre, criticized the government's $320 million pipeline deal with Japan.

The government ordered the immediate shutdown of the magazines, the deportation of the nine editors of the two magazines and the arrest of five prominent lawyers.

The lawyers arrested had denounced the contract with Japan as "illegal and in violation of Peruvian law on foreign investment." The pact involves financing of a pipeline from the oil fields of the Amazon to Peru's north Pacific coast.

The lawyers' objections were prominantly featured in the two magazines.

Oiga, once a strong backer of the social reform minded government of Gen. Juan Velasco Alvarado, turned critic after he took over all major newspapers in Lima on July 27.

The government said it was taking over the papers and turning their operations over to the country's working class.

In Miami, the Inter-American Press Association said the military government has used "totalitarian methods to sweep away the last vestiges of freedom of expression."

"These clearly totalitarian measures," the IAPA said, "also sweep away the illusion in certain journalistic circles that the July 27 expropriation of Lima's major dailies was intended to give the people a real voice and to establish what the dictatorship cynically referred to as true freedom of the press."

Progress-Bulletin Home and Garden

Living tree is forever

Buying a Christmas tree every year can be expensive—both monetarily and ecologically. The yearly purchase of a cut tree turns into a considerable investment and in the end, there is little to show for it—except, possibly a few dreid out needles that the vacuum cleaner missed.

Every year more and more people are using a living Christmas tree over the traditional "cut" one. A live tree has become the favorite not only in the home, but, also in business offices, churches, parks and on city streets.

A living tree not only enhances home decorations for Christmas, but outdoors, it is a lovely addition to the landscape. Every year as the Yuletide season rolls around, it may be brought indoors and decorated—like an old friend returning home for the holidays. And, you can be assured of freshness and insured against a possibly dried out fire hazard. Indoors, the tree should be placed in a room that receives ample sunlight. It should be set away from the fireplace and heating outlets—since excess warmth can damage a live tree as easily as a cut one. You may keep your living trree indoors for about one week. While inside, keep the roots moist. When the tree is taken outside after Christmas, hose off foilage with a fine mist of water—this helps the tree in the transition from indoor to outdoor living, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

As for choice—nurseries have a tremendous selection. Types of trees available now in tubs include, Bishop, Monterey, Aleppo, Scotch and Japanese Black Pines, Norway and Colorado Blue Spruces, Deodar Cedars and many more. The key is to shop early. Since there is no worry about it drying out, your living Christmas tree may be obtained now and it will still be fresh for this Christmas and next, as well.

If you have no room in your own garden to put your tree after Christmas, why not further the Christmas spirit and make it a gift to a local organization, school or the Parks Department for use in post-Christmas planting projects.

Yule decor from yard

Thanksgiving is past and the holidays have begun! When you plan decorations for your home this season, don't overlook your most beautiful, and closest, source of decorating materials, your garden. Landscapes throughout the state are glowing with rich, bright colors that look as if they were painted by the harvest moon.

Some of the many garden favorites that are really "decked out" in lovely holiday hues right now include Nandina (Heavenly Bamboo), which is turning from deep bronze to crimson, while Pyracanthas, Hollies, Cotoneasters, and Barberries are all literally bursting with berries. Pomegranate and persimmon trees are covered with delicious warm-colored fruits. All of these may be "pruned" and brought indoors to use in holiday arangements.

With a little imagination and a pair of trusty clippers, you can decorate your home with naturally elegant colors, textures and fragrances. Festive trimming possibilities are endless. For instance, why not combine garden mums and evergreen foliages for a centerpiece for a holiday table—or set out a basket of fresh vegetables from your own 'Victory' garden.

Sprouts & Cuttings

POMONA VALLEY GARDEN CLUB will feature a symposium on soils at its Tuesday meeting. Chairman Howard Benson said the 7:30 meeting will be at Palomares Junior High School on Orange Grove Ave. just south of Arrow Highway.

Build it yourself

Say Merry Christmas to neighbors

By STEVE ELLINGSON

Put your holiday spirit where it will show . . . right in your own front yard. Instead of making a hundred cards for your friends and neighbors, why not let one giant card do the job?

Each of these cards measures four feet by six feet. The only tool needed is a paint brush for applying the glue. The pictures come to you printed in bright and waterproof colors. Like billboards, they withstand the weather and may be used year after year. Simply glue the picture to a standard four by six panel of plywood and it's ready to go on display. Of course, if you prefer, these decorations may be fastened to your garage door, front gate or on the roof, as well as in your front yard.

The MERRY CHRISTMAS card gives a personal touch. An alphabet is supplied with each of these pictures for spelling out any family name. You merely glue these into the area indicated.

To obtain the giant PEACE ON EARTH card number 327, or the MERRY CHRISTMAS card number 296, send $3.00 for EACH (includes postage & handling). If Air Mail is desired, send $3.50 for EACH, by cash, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, Pomona Progress-Bulletin Pattern Depnt., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, California 91409.

Holly's holy history

The tidbits of lore connected with Holly, a timely holiday favorite, seem to add a touch of historical intrigue to its universally admired beauty.

In early Roman times, holly was one of the chief components in the decorations for the celebration of the winter solstice--the end of the dark days and the gradual return of the sun. (This day is market by the sun reaching the farthest point south of the equator—either December 21 or 22 in the Northern Hemisphere.) When Christmas became a time of worship and celebration, holly was in its glory—adding bright, warm berries and shiny leaves to the festivities. At that time, it was known as the "Holy Tree." The name of the glowing plant, used so widely in winter decorations, has, somewhere along the line evolved from "Holy" to "Holly."

When it comes to growing holly, Californians are truly lucky. Most holly varieties thrive in the Golden State—producing heavy crops of berries year in and year out. Holly grown here and in the Northwest is the highest quality and is shipped to markets in every state in the country.

English holly, with its spiny, luminous dark green leaves and big, bright red berries, is the traditional type—whose ancestors decorated early Roman and Christian festivities. It flourishes in most parts of the state, especially in the north. It needs some protection from the sun in warmer, dry areas in the state. The English holly, like all types, prefers a rich and slightly acid garden soil that has good drainage, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

Floor decor is redecorating must

Inflation and costly mortgages are forcing homeowners who wanted to trade up to newer, larger houses this year to rethink their plans.

Some people believe that a once-every-few years move is the only way to "let in some sunshine" and effectively change scenery. But redecorating is a simpler and less expensive way to create the freshness of a new home without pulling up stakes.

One of the best ways to "add sunshine" to a room is to change its color. In many cases where new furnishings might seem necessary, old favorites are revitalized (and money is saved) by simply painting or slipcovering and changing the surrounding colors.

Many professional decorators like to literally "work form the ground up" and begin overhauling a room's color scheme with the floor. No-wax floors and vinyls, known as "resilient floors," are durable, versatile and styled in an almost limitless selection of colors and patterns.

Resilient flooring is a natural for kitchen use, but it's good to remember that it can be used in other rooms, too.

The family room is a perfect place for these floors, because it's a heavily trafficked gathering place where informality rules. The beauty and toughness of today's floors make them ideal for this center of activity and relaxation.

Keep in mind that the family room is second only to the kitchen or dining room as a place where people eat, and resilient flooring shrugs off those inevitable spills that could pose problems with carpeting.

If your family room adjoins the kitchen, you might consider a "total-look" decor, created by joining both rooms with one floor pattern.

Area rugs can be used in the family room to set it off from an identically floored kitchen as long as the rugs aren't backed with synthetic foam. Synthetic foam reacts with the floor to cause permanent discoloration.

Repapering walls or repainting cabinets to coordinate with a new floor can totally change a kitchen's atmosphere.

Some decorators are even combining painting and papering with striking results.

NO WAX FLOOR was used to blend family-room-dining area into kitchen with coordinated colors and fabrics used for wall and window decor. No wax flooring eliminates much household drudgery.

India grain shipments to be staggered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A pending deal to ship U.S. grain to India under the Food for Peace program probably will be completed on a staggered basis so that half or more of the aid supplies can come from 1975 crops, government officials indicate.

Agriculture Department sources say they have no knowledge of any formal commitment to bear out earlier reports from India that an aid deal involving about one million tons of wheat was in the making to help ward off starvation in the Asian nation.

Other government sources said, however, that while no formal agreement has yet been reached, U.S. officials have been discussing a plan under which India would be promised up to one million tons of wheat, but with only 300,000 to 500,000 tons scheduled for delivery during the current 1974-75 marketing year.

The rest of the grain, the sources said, would be shipped out of what officials hoped would be a record 1975 U.S. wheat crop after the 1975-76 marketing year begins next July 1.

The grain aid, if it materializes, would supplement Indian purchases in commercial markets here and abroad that have already gone far beyond the scale of recent years.

Last week, Agriculture Department officials reported that India had placed orders for 925,000 metric tons of wheat in the U.S. commercial market. Adding that new sale to previous purchases and reports of other deals not yet officially confirmed, government experts currently estimate that India has bought about 3.2 million to 3.3 million tons of U.S. wheat commercially for delivery in the 1974-75 season.

In contrast, Indian wheat purchases from the United States in the three years ending June 30, 1974, had averaged only 954,000 tons a year.

Indian grain import needs shot up this year because a poor monsoon season and a shortage of fertilizers reduced grain production there. Any new Food for Peace agreement with India would be the first such deal since shipments ended in the early 1970s after the Indian-Pakistan war.

Even before that, however, rising Indian grain production in the "green revolution" of the late 1960's and Indian reluctance to be regarded as an aid recipient had sharply reduced the food aid shipments that once hit nearly 10 million tons in a food crisis year in the mid-60's.

Sales under the Food for Peace program are made with terms allowing the purchasing nation to repay U.S. credits over 20 to 40 year periods with interest rates of not more than 3 per cent.

2 convicted slayers wed in prison

CRANSTON, R.I. (UPI) — Two convicted murderers were married recently at the Adult Correctional Institution in the first inmate marriage in Rhode Island.

Walter C. Jordan, 30, and Linda Kane, 29, had been seeking permission to marry for more than a year.

Corrections officials confirmed the woman was pregnant, the unborn child conceived while both were minimum security prisoners.

Donald D. Taylor, acting director of corrections, said he had not heard of such a marriage happening anywhere in the nation.

The bride, a divorcee convicted of the 1971 shooting of her 4-year-old daughter and the wounding of two other children, was given away by Corrections Officer George Fortier. Inmate Ronald Parenteau served as best man for Jordan, who is serving a 37-year term for the 1968 murder of a 73-year-old woman. Parenteau's wife Claire, not a prisoner, was matron of honor.

Going gets tougher for CIF teams

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

The going gets a little tougher for the four valley teams entering the second round of the CIF football playoffs tonight.

What makes things even more difficult is that three of the four will be on the road.

Pomona High, which won the San Antonio League championship for the second consecutive season, travels to Colton High to take on the 3-A's unbeaten and second-ranked Colton Yellowjackets in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

Bonita High, the 2-A's once-beaten and seventh-ranked Hacienda League champion, will face unranked Mayfair at Cerritos College in Norwalk beginning at 8 p.m.

Royal Oak High, runnerup to Bonita in the Hacienda, drew the only home game of the four and will entertain Yucaipa at Charter Oak High beginning at 8 p.m.

And Rowland High, the Montview League champion which ended the regular season as the 2-A's ninth-ranked club, will tackle the 2-A's once-beaten and fourth-ranked Arlington Lions at 8 p.m. at Ramona High in Riverside.

Pomona is probably in the most unenviable position.

The Red Devils, who finished the regular season with a 4-4-1 record and then eliminated San Gabriel in the first round last weekend, 13-12, will bump heads with a team which is not only known for its high-scoring offense but also for its "run up the score techniques."

Colton averages 45.2 points per game this year and has made it known that it never lets up, even when the other team is down.

However, Pomona coach Mike Clifton indicated earlier this week that he thinks his Red Devils have the toughest defensive unit the Jackets have faced this year.

The Devils have only allowed their opponents 12.6 points per outing this year and have won in their last three outings.

Offensively the Red Devils have improved immensely over the past two months, due to the health of halfback Raymond Butler and the maturity of fullback Hank Zibell.

In the regular season, Butler (5-7, 160) carried the ball 76 times for 398 yards while missing two games. Last week against San Gabriel the little speedster picked up 141 yards on 16 carries.

Zibell (6-1, 210), only a junior, had a total of 475 yards on 87 carries this year and picked up 80 yards on 21 carries last weekend.

The third running back in the Devils' Double-Wing formation will probably be Charles Cole, who was slightly injured in last week's win.

Quarterbacking Pomona will be John Souza, who is not known as much of a passer although he has improved since the beginning of the year.

The two horses the Devils' defense must stop are Ted Smith, the state's leading rusher, and converted tight end Tony Olivarrio.

Last week in Colton's 48-0 romp over Santiago, Smith had 204 yards rushing and four touchdowns while Olivarrio had 120 yards rushing and two of the other three TDs.

Colton's defense is fairly impressive also, having given up only an average of 9.6 points an outing while recording three shutouts.

With the Jackets' offensive and the Devils' improved offense, it should be a game with plenty of fireworks.

Bonita's defense, which was No. 1 in the valley with a 5.6 average, will have to be better than just good tonight against the Mayfair Monscons, whose season record is misleading.

The Bearcats' defense, which is led by Ross Thompson, Lencho Nava, Rick Carlton, Alan Rojas, Scott Sanborn and Bruce Hines, will try to halt the Monsoons, who have averaged 24 points per game.

Mayfair's statistics tend to make anyone believe that the team wouldn't be much of a problem. But that's only on paper. The Monsoons finished third in the tough Suburban League and now boasts a 6-3-1 seasonal record.

The Bearcats, who are 9-1 for the season, will try to muster up points with quarterback Harold Drake, fullback Brad Frick and halfbacks Larry Franco and Scott Johnson.

Drake, the Most Valuable Offensive Player from the Hacienda, rushed for 598 yards and eight touchdowns this year. Frick added 915 yards and six TDs while Franco (296) and Johnson have combined for 304 yards and two scores.

Mayfair is led by quarterback Joe Roberts, who has passed for 907 yards and seven TDs, fullback Rich Johnson (744 yards and 10 TDs) and halfback Greg McSparren (902 yards and nine scores).

Royal Oak also faces a third-place team with an unimpressive record. But again, the Romans' opponents' stats are misleading.

Yucaipa is just as big, if not bigger, than the Romans and rely almost totally on tailback Dale Bouman, who rushed for 142 yards and two touchdowns in a 24-6 win over University last Friday.

Royal Oak, which boasts a 7-2-1 seasonal record, should score with the talents of quarterback Joe Garcia and a fleet-footed backfield of Rick Hall, Vince Nixon and Chris Tribble. But Nixon (hip pointer) and Tribble (slight concussion) are coming off injuries suffered in last Friday's easy 20-6 win over Calexico.

Yucaipa finished third in the San Andreas League this year and holds a 6-4 season record.

In all respects, Arlington shapes up as the toughest 2-A school Rowland has faced this year.

The Lions won the San Andreas League championship this year and will be carrying a 9-1 season mark into tonight's battle.

Rowland goes into the game as the Montview League champions, but none of the other clubs in the league are anywhere near as formidable as Arlington.

In many ways, the two teams are quite similar. Both schools were rated, both have outstanding offensive units and both have the ability to score from anywhere on the field.

Thus tonight's contest could turn into a real shootout.

While the Raiders' offense revolves around the throwing arm of quarterback Flavio Garcia, the Lions have used a powerful running game.

Leading the offense for Arlington has been little scatback Dale Johnson, who scored four touchdowns against Brawley last week, including TD runs of 82 and 76 yards.

For Rowland, its defense will obviously be in for a stern test.

Middle linebacker Dave Pearce leads that defense, which has surrendered an average of only 10 points per contest this season.

Another interesting playoff game with some interest in the valley will be the Bishop Amat-Los Altos battle at Mt. San Antonio College tonight at 8 p.m.

The Colton High stadium is located on Rancho Avenue just north of the San Bernardino Freeway. Cerritos College is located on Alonda Boulevard in Norwalk just east of the 605 Freeway. Ramona High in Riverside is on Magnolia Avenue between Jefferson and Madison avenues.

USC four-point choice

LOCAL-NATIONAL Sports

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rose Bowl-bound University of Southern California, coming off an impressive Pacific-8 title-clinching victory over UCLA last weekend, matches its potent rushing attack led by Heisman Trophy candidate Anthony Davis against Notre Dame's stingy defense Saturday.

With three overpowering wins in a row to get to the Rose Bowl for the third straight season, the No. 4-rated Trojans have been installed as fourpoint favorites against the fifth-ranked Irish.

A crowd of 90,000 is expected at the Coliseum for the 2:05 p.m. game, which will be shown on national television.

Pat Haden, USC's outstanding senior quarterback, suffered a bruised knee in his team's 34-9 romp over UCLA last Saturday but is expected to play.

Notre Dame, which will face top-rated Alabama in the Orange Bowl on New Year's night, goes into its annual collision with USC with a 9-1 record and seven victories in a row.

Against the Irish defense, which has yielded only 81 points this season, the Trojans send the new Pac-8 career rushing king.

Davis enhanced his Heisman Trophy chances last weekend with a 195-yard day against UCLA that gave him 1,306 yards for the year and 3,609 for his career. The old conference mark was 3,423 by O.J. Simpson.

USC's jitterbug 5-9, 185-pound tailback also has 48 touchdowns and 288 points in his career.

The Irish, who handled USC 23-14 last season en route to an 11-0 record that was climaxed by a 24-23 win over Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, lead the nation in total defense. They've yielded only 174.7 yards per game.

"Most defensive teams in the country are big," said USC coach John McKay, "but, as a group, the Irish are the biggest. They're quick for their size, too.

"We're not going to score a lot of points on them. They don't leak, they submerge you."

McKay, whose own club lost its opener at Arkansas and was tied by California this year, added, "The only way we've been able to beat Notre Dame is with the big play."

The Irish have surprised their coach, Ara Parseghian. The suspension of six Notre Dame players as a result of a dormitory incident during the summer deprived him of three first-line defensive performers, ends Ross Browner and Willie Fry, and safety Luther Bradley.

"I didn't think there was any way we could be as strong on defense as we were a year ago," Parseghian admitted.

"If someone had told me at the start of the season that we would be leading the nation in defense after 10 games, I would have thought the person was crazy."

The Irish have other weapons besides their defense, too. Fullback Wayne Bullock is one of them. With 815 yards, he needs 113 to become Notre Dame's all-time single season rushing leader.

Denver's Otis Armstrong (24) breaks through one group of bodies only to find Lions' Jim Laslavic (52) waiting for him at the three-yard line during the second quarter of Broncos' 31-27 win.

Bruins, Trojans in cage openers

By United Press International

UCLA and USC open their basketball seasons at home tonight.

The Bruins, who were dethroned as NCAA champions last year by North Carolina State, will be hosting Wichita State at Pauley Pavilion while USC, hoping to give UCLA a strong battle at the Pacific-8 Conference, entertains Louisiana State at the Sports Arena.

UCLA stays busy by hosting DePaul Saturday night while USC takes the night off.

Coach John Wooden will be starting an inexperienced but talented team against Wichita. Forward Dave Meyers is the only returning starter but the other Bruin regulars include big Ralph Drollinger (7-1) at center plus forward Richard Washington and guards Andre McCarter and Pete Trgovich.

A pair of sophomores, guard Jim Spillane and forward Wilbert Olinde, are the top reserves. Sophomore forward Marques Johnson is regaining his strength after missing first month of practice because of illness and probably won't suit up this weekend.

Wichita State coach Harry Miller says he has the best club he has ever had. One of his starters is 6-6 guard Robert Gray, a transfer from Cal Poly Pomona.

DePaul, coached by the veteran Ray Meyer who has 494 lifetime victories, will present a tall lineup to give UCLA a test. The Chicago school is listed among the nation's top 20 teams.

USC, ranked sixth in the UPI preseason poll, returns 10 players from last season's club which won 24 games.

Coach Bob Boyd is also optimistic about his four prize freshman recruits, which includes Ganesha High's Cleve Porter. However, Porter will probably be spending most of the time on the junior varsity club.

"The opener is a critical game for us," Boyd said. "It's important we get off to a fast start and establish ourselves as a contender."

Boyd's starting lineup will be made up of 6-10 John Lambert, 6-8 Bob Trowbridge, 6-9 Clint Chapman, 6-2 Gus Williams and 6-2 Biff Burrell.

LSU has three starters back from last season's 12-14 club which beat Southeastern Conference champion Vanderbilt and Kentucky. Glenn Hansen is LSU's top threat.

USF debuts against UC Santa Barbara which is loaded with transfers, including ex-UOP guard Andy Oliviera.

"Santa Barbara thinks they have the best club they've ever had and they may be right," said Don Coach Bob Gaillard.

San Francisco lost Phil Smith and Kevin Restani, both now playing in the NBA, and WCAC coaches have picked Seattle to take this season's crown.

Other games tonight include Pepperdine taking on Missouri Western and Loyola playing Southwest Missouri in the first annual Malibu Classic, Cal State Hayward facing Santa Clara, San Jose State hosting North Dakota, San Francisco State at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and UC Davis at New Mexico.

In the Pacific Northwest, Oregon State hosts Doane College of Nebraksa and Athletes in Action, a touring group of former college players, is at Oregon.

Saturday night, California takes on Colorado at Berkeley, Stanford is at home to LSU, UOP hosts Santa Clara and St. Mary's is at Oregon.

'Mad Bomber' saves Dallas

By United Press International

For most of his rookie year, Clint Longley has been simply the "Mad Bomber" or "Snake Hunter" to his Dallas Cowboy teammates. He changed that Thursday.

Longley took over at quarterback in the third period when Roger Staubach was knocked dizzy and threw two touchdown passes, the last a 50-yarder to Drew Pearson with just 28 seconds left, to lift the Cowboys to a 24-23 upset of the Washington Redskins.

The victory kept the Cowboys' slim wild card playoff hopes alive in the National Conference East and prevented them from being eliminated from post-season competition for the first time in nine years. St. Louis leads the division at 9-2, Washington now is 8-4 and Dallas 7-5.

Longley, a 6-foot-1, 195-pounder, picked up the "Mad Bomber" tag in training camp when he almost skulled coach Tom Landry in a supervising tower with a pass and kept the sidelines loose with his wild throws. The "Snake Hunter" tag went on when people found out his off-season occupation — he hunts rattlesnakes.

But Thursday Longley was all quarterback. Entering the game with the Cowboys trailing 16-3, he threw a 35-yard TD pass to tight end Billy Joe Dupree and set up Walt Garrison's one-yard run to lift Dallas to a 17-16 advantage. Duane Thomas' 19-yard run rallied Washington to a 23-17 lead before Longley hit Pearson on the 15 and the fleet receiver sped in for the TD. Efren Herrera's conversion provided the margin of victory.

"They told me to grab my helmet and get in there," said Longley, who became Staubach's backup when Craig Morton was traded to the New York Giants last month. "I had to find my helmet first."

"Nobody had me deep," said Pearson, explaining the winning score. "Longley did just a great job. He stayed in the pocket, read his keys and hit the open man. He was superb."

"Football is an incredible game," said Landry. "This is what makes it so unbelievable at times. Clint Longley has incredible ability. He just knows where his receivers are. He's too young to read the defenses correctly. It's just a special football sense and he's going to be a good one."

Washington coach George Allen, who had his division title hopes all but wiped out with the loss and now must fight for a wild card playoff berth, simply called the defeat, "the toughest loss we've ever had. I can't remember a tougher loss. Longley did a great job. What else can you say."

The Redskins' last hope for a comeback was wiped out when Billy Kilmer fumbled trying to pass and Harvey Martin recovered for Dallas.

In the other Thanksgiving Day game, Otis Armstrong carried 24 times for 144 yards to become the first NFL player this season to crack the 1,000-yard barrier as the Denver Broncos beat the Detroit Lions 31-27.

Armstrong, a second-year back from Purdue, boosted his total to 1,082 yards and scored once in a three-touchdown burst in the third period that lifted the Broncos ahead.

Jon Keyworth scored twice for Denver on one-yard runs and Charley Johnson flipped a one-yard TD pass to Riley Odoms. Greg Landry threw 23 yards to Altie Taylor and Levi Johnson returned a fumble 55 yards to highlight Detroit's scoring.

The loss left Detroit at 6-6 and all but killed the Lions' playoff chances after they had pulled to within a game of Minnesota in the NFC Central. Denver is 6-5-1 and has a slim chance in the AFC for a wild card slot.

In Sunday action, Kansas City is at St. Louis, New England at Oakland, Los Angeles at Atlanta, Houston at Pittsburgh, New Orleans at Minnesota, Baltimore at Buffalo, Green Bay at Philadelphia, San Diego at the New York Jets, the New York Giants at Chicago and San Francisco at Cleveland. Cincinnati is at Miami Monday night.

McKnight wins at Ascot

GARDENA — Danny McKnight of La Verne pulled a major upset to win his first United States Auto Club (USAC) race Thursday in the 100-lap midget Grand Prix at Ascot Park.

The 25-year-old Californian beat a group of nationally-ranked drivers including Duane "Poncho" Carter Jr., the 1974 USAC sprint car champion and Indianapolis 500 Rookie of the Year.

Carter led the race from the 20th to the 45th laps after early leader Bob Olivaro blew an engine. McKnight passed Carter on the 45th circuit and stayed ahead the rest of the way.

At the finish, only Carter and Jerry Weeks of Anaheim were on the same lap as McKnight.

McKnight was driving a Volkswagen-powered machine prepared by L.T. Red Caruthers of Costa Mesa.

Marvin Barnes ready to rejoin St. Louis mates

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Rookie center Marvin Barnes was ready to rejoin the Spirits of St. Louis today after talking turkey with team president Harry Weltman on Thanksgiving Day and agreeing to continue playing under the terms of his $2.1 million contract.

Barnes was expected to be in the lineup tonight when the Spirits play the Utah Stars in Salt Lake City. The 6-foot-9, All-America from Providence was averaging 22.1 points and 14.8 rebounds a game when he walked out on the Spirits last week. Without him the Spirits lost four of six games.

Barnes' disappearance apparently centered around unhappiness with his contract, with the way his money was being handled and with the treatment of fellow rookie Jimmy Foster, who was cut by the Spirits one day before Barnes walked out.

Barnes huddled with Weltman for a few hours at the team's offices Thursday, and after the summit conference, Weltman issued a statement making it clear the team had stuck to its refusal to renogiate the rookie's contract.

"Marvin Barnes has met with the management of the Spirits of St. Louis," the statement said, "and has agreed to return to the team under the terms of his contract. The Spirits have agreed to work with Marvin in connection with any financial and tax matters in which they can be helpful.

"The Spirits and Marvin also have cleared up misunderstandings concerning the protection provided him by his contract. Marvin will rejoin the team in time for the game Friday night against the Utah Stars in Salt Lake City."

Barnes was upset when Foster, who had a no-cut, guaranteed contract similar to Barnes', was put on waivers by the club after being injured and not regaining full effectiveness on the court. But Weltman's statement indicated Barnes had been reassured that his pro basketball future was secure in the provisions of his present pact.

Calhoun joins Lakers tonight

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Newly acquired Corky Calhoun will join Los Angeles tonight against the expansion New Orleans Jazz in the first of three weekend games for the Lakers.

The Lakers, who are at Golden State Saturday night and at home against Phoenix Sunday night, shored up their bench Wednesday by acquiring the 6-7 Calhoun, a forward, from the Phoenix Suns.

In exchange for the three-year veteran from Penn, the Lakers gave up two early round future draft choices.

Los Angeles was beaten by Kansas City-Omaha 107-89 in Kansas City Wednesday night while playing without Gail Goodrich. Goodrich sprained an ankle in a win at Milwaukee Tuesday night.

At Kansas City, Lucius Allen bruised a knee and reserve Kermit Washington twisted an ankle.

Bahr's kicks lift Penn St.

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — When Chris Bahr missed four field goals in a 7-6 loss to Navy early this year, he thought his future as a professional athlete would have to be in soccer.

Bahr, an All America soccer player at Penn State, changed his mind Thanksgiving Night after making four field goals against archrival Pittsburgh in a 31-10 Penn State victory on national televison.

"Now I'll consider any option," he said.

Bahr used to roll into the sack at two or three in the morning on game days, but the 160-pound field goal kicker never got any complaints from his coach.

"He sometimes plays soccer on Fridays and he doesn't join the team until the early hours of the morning if we're away," Nittany Lion Coach Joe Paterno said Thursday night. "When we played Iowa, he had to catch a plane at midnight and didn't catch up with us until two in the morning."

Paterno said he thought the strain made Bahr less consistant that John Reihner, Penn State's other placement kicker, so most of the season he was used only on long attempts.

"I decided to use him the whole way through tonight because when he walked into that 50-yarder on the first try, I knew he was on," Paterno said.

The season-ending victory gave the Cotton-Bowl bound Lions a 9-2 record and assured them of their fourth straight Lambert Trophy, symbol of the Eastern football championship. It was also Penn State's ninth straight win over Pitt, and broke a 35-35-3 tie in the series, which dates back to 1893.

Bahr, voted the game's outstanding player, set a school record for most field goals in a game and tied his own distance record with the 50-yard bomb. He also kicked three pointers of 21, 31, and 38 yards.

Wide receiver Jim Eaise, the game's goat in the first half with two fumbled punts, caught a pair of touchdown passes in the second half as Penn State pulled away from the 10th-ranked Panthers, whose record dropped to 7-4.

"I said, 'Hey Jim, come here and look me in the eye.'" Paterno said after Eaise's second fumble led to Pitt's only touchdown. "He said 'I'm okay coach.' He's got a lot of poise."

Eaise got behind two Pitt defenders for a 23-yard TD pass from Tom Shuman in the third period and hauled in a 35-yarder in the final period. Shuman, the No. 2 passer in Penn State history, completed 9-of-17 passes for 165 yards.

"Those were both individual letdowns," Pitt Coach Johnny Majors said. "We had the right defense call, a zone.

"And that gift touchdown was just ridiculous."

Majors was referring to Penn State's final touchdown on the kickoff following Bahr's last field goal. Pitt's Allan Webster fumbled at his own 11 and linebacker Tom Williams fell on the ball in the end zone.

The Panthers, who had called the game the "Turkey Bowl" to reflect their disappointment at being overlooked by post-season bowls, had a 7-6 halftime lead on Tony Dorsett's two-yard touchdown which came six plays after Eaise fumbled at the Penn State 30.

"We didn't block anybody in the second half," Majors said. "They came out blocking crisper. It's all a matter of learning how to win. They know how and we're still learning. But we're a step farther than last year because we won one more game."

The Holiday package concludes Saturday with several other traditional matchups.

The most promising game on the Saturday schedule has fifth-ranked Notre Dame visiting fourth-ranked Southern California in a nationally-televised affair. The Trojans, headed for the Rose Bowl, have been installed a four-point pick over the Irish, who will be meeting Alabama in the Orange Bowl.

In other games Saturday, Navy is a nine-point pick over Arizona State, Tulane is seven over Mississippi, Georgia is nine over Georgia Tech, Florida is 12 over Miami (Fla.), Houston is 14 over Tulsa, Baylor is 14 over Rice, Boston College is 26 over Holy Cross and unbeaten Oklahoma is 28 over Oklahoma State.

Ishimatsu retains title after 12th-round win

OSAKA, Japan (UPI) — Guts Ishimatsu of Japan retained his World Boxing Council lightweight championship for the second time Thursday night by knocking out Mexican challenger Rodolfo Gonzalez in the 12th round of their scheduled 15-round title match.

Ishimatsu, 25, stopped Gonzalez, 27, the WBC No. 3 lightweight contender, at 2:23 of the 12th round with the same righthand punch by which he wrested the championship from Gonzalez with an eighth-round knockout last April in Tokyo.

The knockout punch came suddenly and electrified 5,000 spectators in the Osaka Prefectural Gymnasium.

Ishimatsu was jubilant because he had succeeded in his first title defense last September in Nagoya with a controversial 15-round draw with Mexican challenger Tury Pineda.

There were no knockdowns Thursday night until the 12th round. Ishimatsu kept running, circling to his left, with Gonzalez chasing him but unable to connect with effective punches.

Eddie Townsend, formerly of Honolulu and Ishimatsu's special trainer, said, "We had Ishimatsu run because we did not want him to slug it out in the early stages of the fight with Gonzalez because he is a hard hitter. But we knew Ishimatsu would eventually catch up with him and knock him out."

Gonzalez said, "Ishimatsu is a dirty fighter. He butted me in the left eye in the third round and I could not see for four or five rounds. I could not see that right-hand punch in the 12th round."

OPEN WIDE — Philadelphia's Fred Carter (3) shouts at his teammates as he goes up for two points while Cleveland's Jim Chones (22) looks on. Cavs won the Thursday night game, 110-103.

Foster gets in a little work in leading Cavs' 110-103 win

By United Press International

Fred Foster was a bit tired Thursday night and the Cleveland Cavaliers' forward had a right to be.

The former Miami of Ohio star, who had averaged seven minutes of playing time in the Cavs' first 14 games, logged 33 minutes of action in sparking Cleveland to a 110-103 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers.

With starting forward Bobby Smith fighting a bout with the flu, Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch sent Foster in with three minutes gone in the second period and the Cavs trailing 35-28.

Foster, who combined with Dick Snyder for 17 second period points, hit 5-for-5 from the field as the Cavs bounced back to trail 56-55 at halftime. Foster hit two straight shots after intermission and the Cavs moved ahead to stay with 4:31 left in the third period when Snyder hit from 13 feet out to give the Cavs a 70-68 lead and the 76ers never caught up.

"I have been shooting well lately, but I was getting tired in the fourth period," said Foster, who hit on 11-of-14 shots.

Foster, who had to fight to make the team during the preseason training camp, added, "If have had games like this before, and I did thrown in 37 points in one game a few years ago."

Fitch, who kept Foster on the team because he decided to keep five forwards instead of five guards, added, "Foster worked hard and it was his good camp that got him on the team."

Portland defeated Phoenix 88-85 in the other NBA game Thursday night while Kentucky downed Virginia 108-95 in the only ABA game.

Blazers 88, Suns 85

Portland used five straight free throws within a minute at the end of the game to edge Phoenix. After an 83-83 tie, Lloyd Neal converted a foul shot to make it 84-83 and Geoff Petrie and Larry Steele each hit a pair to put the Blazers ahead 88-83 with eight seconds left. Sidney Wicks of Portland led all scorers with 29. Charlie Scott led Phoenix with 27.

Colonels 108, Squires 95

Center Artis Gilmore scored 24 points and hauled down 20 rebounds to pace Kentucky over Virginia. George Irvine of Virginia had a game-high 27 points. Rookie center David Vaughn had 23 points for the Squires' effort and Dave Twardzik had 22.

HollyPark Classic tabs Armbro Omaha

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Armbro Omaha, winner of five $100,000 races this year, will be the favorite tonight in the premier event of the 1974 Hollywood Park harness racing season, the $113,350 American Pacing Classic.

Two weeks ago, Armbro Omaha, a 3-year-old driven by Bill Haughton, captured his fifth hundred grander, the L.K Shapiro Stakes.

However, as a 4-5 choice a week ago in the Western Pace, Armbro Omaha faded to fifth. His filly stablemate, Handle With Care, won in a sizzling 1:54 4-5.

Also going to the post in the mile and one-eighth event are Braidwood, Otaro Hanover, Royal Ascot N, Armbro Nesbit, Keystone Smartie, Sir Dalrae, American Skipper, Tarport Low, Royal Prince and Steady Airliner.

Three Broncos on polo team

Conference champion Cal Poly Pomona placed three players on the All-California Collegiate Athletic Association water polo team as selected by the coaches.

Mark Jacobs, John Roche and John Hartley of the Broncos were named to the first team.

Other first team selections include Craig Lippitt of Cal Poly SLO, Marc Kelly of Cal State Northridge plus Jim DaBoard and Andri Livian of Cal State Los Angeles.

Canadiens trade Lefley to Blues

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League announced Thursday they have traded left-winger Chuck Lefley to the St. Louis Blues for veteran defenseman Don Awrey.

Awrey, 31, was in his second season with the Blues after playing nine years with the Boston Bruins.

Sabres start talking about Stanley Cup

By United Press International

It was a study in contrasts— the once-proud Detroit Red Wings, with only six wins to their credit this season, and the up-and-coming Buffalo Sabres, with by far the best National Hockey League record so far this season.

Buffalo, a young, aggressive team which has lost only one game in its last 17, came out on top 5-2 in the only NHL game Thursday night. In the Sabres' dressing room the talk was— very cautiously — about the Stanley Cup playoffs.

In the Detroit dressing room, there was only a resigned dejection from Coach Alex Delvecchio, who admitted, "We didn't give them too much opposition."

The Sabres controlled the puck for most of the game with strong checking and good skating, allowing Detroit only three shots on goal in the first period and 19 for the game.

"We're here," said Sabre Coach Floyd Smith. "I believe it—so do the kids. Somebody asked me the other day how far ahead of schedule (in development) I think we are. I told him two months, but we're really two years ahead."

The Sabres have lost only four games this year and tied three, with 17 wins—a feat many thought impossible at the beginning of the year when Smith came up from the minor leagues to replace Joe Crozier, who jumped to the World Hockey Association.

The Sabre scoring came from Martin and Brian Spencer in the first period, Rick Dudley and Rene Robert in the second and rookie Lee Fogolin in the third.

Mountie cagers look sharp in easy victory over Alumni

Valley junior colleges officially begin their basketball schedules tonight and Saturday in games around the Southland.

Chaffey visits Pasadena tonight and hosts Moorpark Saturday while Citrus hosts East L.A. tonight and visits the La Verne College junior varsity Saturday. The Citrus-La Verne game is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. All the others are set for 8 p.m.

Mt. San Antonio College got the jump on its valley neighbors, opening Wednesday in the annual battle with the Alumni.

The Mountie varsity was impressive in a 100-65 victory and will be looking for its second win tonight against Glendale at 7:30 p.m. in the MSAC gym.

MSAC visits Rio Hondo in Whittier Saturday at 8 p.m. to complete the first week of the season.

George Schader, a 6-6 forward who prepped at Covina High and spent an uneventful year at Nevada, Las Vegas with Jerry Tarkanian last season, pepped the Mounties over the Alumni with 33 points and 13 rebounds.

Sophomore forward Gary Melugin, a Ganesha High product, added 18 points and freshman center Duaine Harding hit 10. Freshman forward Tom Pokorski came off the bench to add nine points and eight rebounds.

A pair of guards from the early 1960s paced the alumni. Mark Ramsey led the old-timers with 14 points and Dave Jones hit for 10.

The alumni had a lead midway through the first half, but the Mounties made up the spread and took a 41-29 lead at halftime.

Coach Gene Victor, who suffered through a 9-19 season last year, called it, "the best start we've had in a long time."

Leos open on road

Sagehens greet Nebraska visitors

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

Pomona-Pitzer is at home and La Verne College is on the road tonight as the 1974-75 college basketball season begins.

The Sagehens host Hastings College of Nebraska (8 p.m.) while the Leopards travel to Newhall to play L.A. Baptist.

Claremont-Mudd travels to Azusa Saturday night to play Azusa Pacific in the opener for both schools.

The Sagehens will probably have their hands full tonight. Hastings won its district title in Nebraska last year while posting a 27-4 record, most successful in the school's history.

The Broncos have five returning lettermen and two others who were on the squad last year but did not letter.

Senior center Paul Thomas (6-9) tops the list. Two of the lettermen are guards and the other two are forwards. The forwards are junior Rick Berkshire (6-5) and sophomore Kert McKeone (6-6).

The returning guards are senior Pat Sitorius (6-2) and junior Bob Parminter (6-3).

Of the five, Thomas was a full time starter last season. Sitorius and McKeone were part-time starters.

"We've got 10 or 11 people capable of playing well," said Hastings coach Dr. Lynn Farrell. "Some of these will move ahead of others as the season goes along. We're opening up a week earlier than usual and pick up four California games pretty close together."

The Broncos play Whittier Saturday night, Claremont-Mudd Monday and Pepperdine Tuesday.

The Sagehens held their final scrimmage Tuesday night when they played the jayvees in the "Hall of Fame" game. Proceeds went to the Basketball Hall of Fame.

The jayvees were handicapped because 6-5 center Chad Floe and 6-4 forward Jeff Huyck were both sidelined with injuries. The varsity won, 86-47. Center Geoff Northrup scored 25 points and grabbed 14 rebounds. Forward Brandon Boyd added 20 points and eight boards.

Bob Hehn (6-5) or Manual Ramos (6-3) will start at the other forward spot. The "probable" starters at guard are Scott Pease (5-9) and Garry Stewart (6-1).

Stewart and Pease had slightly less playing time than the number two guard, Steven Pinkston (6-1) and Carlos Guangorena (5-11). Pinkston scored 11 points and Guangorena eight while Stewart had just six and Pease only two.

La Verne returns home Saturday night to open home play in the "supertent." People should come out for this one simply to see the novel facility, unlike anything else in the country.

The Leos have a tough foe Saturday in Chapman. But they'll be more used to the supertent than the Panthers.

Claremont-Mudd and Azusa Pacific square off at APC Saturday. It's a tough opener for new coach Dave Wells. "They are the district champions," he reminded. They've undergone quite a few changes and I really don't know much about them. But year after year they are tough and usually very good defensively. And it's always a difficult game when you play in the APC gym."

Waves hosting Malibu Classic

MALIBU, Calif. (UPI) — Pepperdine meets Missouri Western and Loyola takes on Southwest Missouri in the first annual Malibu Classic tonight.

The Waves, host of the four-team tournament at their new gymnasium, are coming off an 8-18 year. Loyola was 15-13 last season, finishing fourth in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Memphis takes on Florida tonight in WFL semifinals

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The Memphis Southmen take on the Florida Blazers tonight for the right to meet the Birmingham Americans in the World Football League's first World Bowl on Dec. 5.

Southmen officials expect about 20,000 fans in the 50,000-seat Memphis Memorial Stadium for the final WFL playoff game which will be televised nationally at 8 p.m. EST.

Win or lose, the Blazers can expect to gain one thing from the matchup—their first paychecks since the middle of September.

After expenses are paid, 70 per cent of the gate receipts from tonight's contest will go into a players' pool. The winners get 60 per cent of the pool and the losers 40 per cent.

"The players hope to see a big crowd," Memphis Coach John McVay said, "Both for the gate receipts and because they like to play in front of big home crowds. But if they had to, they'd play for nothing to win the championship."

Play for nothing is what the Blazers have done for more than two months. A deal that was expected to give them their money this week fell through.

"We're mad now," Florida quarterback Bob Davis said. "The majority feel we're never going to get paid."

"We're going to take it out on Memphis," Blazers Coach Jack Pardee said.

The Southmen, who haven't missed a paycheck in the league's inagural season and finished with the best regular-season record of 17-3, have the advantage of an extra week's rest going into the game.

Memphis and Birmingham, which defeated Hawaii 22-19 Wednesday night to earn a bowl slot, received first-round byes in the playoffs because they finished one-two in the regular season standings. Memphis won the Central Division title and Birmingham was second with a 15-5 mark.

The Blazers, who won the league's Eastern Division championship with a 14-6 slate, defeated Philadelphia in last week's quarterfinal playoff round. Some Florida players thought the game was unneeded.

"The league hasn't given us the consideration we deserved as Eastern Division champions," Blazers linebacker Larry Grantham said. "Birmingham got a bye and some teams didn't deserve to make the playoffs."

The Blazers lost twice to the Southmen during the regular season—26-18 at Orlando and 25-15 in Memphis—but Grantham, an NFL veteran with the New York Jets, said the setbacks should be to their advantage in the playoffs.

"When a team beats you twice like they have, we feel the odds are in our favor," he said.

Valley entries compete in CIF harrier finals

Two San Antonio League teams and two Hacienda League teams, plus three other individuals from the valley will be competing in the CIF Cross Country Championships Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. at Mt. San Antonio College.

Upland, the San Antonio League champion, and Claremont, the San Antonio League runnerup, will be running in the 10:30 a.m. race along with Hacienda League champion San Dimas and Hacienda runnerup Walnut.

Also in that race, which is the 2-A division race, will be Alta Loma's Joel Hope and Pomona's Barry Boettcher. Both qualified, although their teams didn't, in last week's preliminaries at MSAC.

Running in the 11:30 a.m 4-A race, Chaffey High's Tim Mattison will be without his team intact after he qualified on the individual basis last weekend.

San Dimas finished first in its race last weekend, with Claremont finishing fifth in that same race. Meanwhile, Upland finished second behind San Marino in the other 2-A race, with Walnut taking fourth place.

Other individuals from the valley to keep an eye on will be Upland's Mark Sorenson, San Dimas' Frank Diaz, Claremont's Blake Wood, Mark Ramstead and Gary Ardrey, and Walnut's Scott Carter.

The big favorite of the meet, Laguna Beach's Eric Hulst, has decided to pass up the CIF finals in order to compete in an AAU meet in Belmont. His decision was prompted by the fact that his team did not qualify.

Kings still excited about comeback

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Down 3-0 in the final period Wednesday night, the Los Angeles Kings refused to give up.

The Kings, paced by the line of Mike Corrigan, Mike Murphy and Butch Goring, rallied for three last-period goals—the third coming with 1:36 to play— to earn a 3-3 tie with the New York Islanders.

In their first 22 games, the Kings have lost only two and lead the NHL's Division III by two points.

"That period was the most satisfying of the year," said Los Angeles Coach Bob Pulford. "We could have rolled over and played dead but we didn't. It was very important to us that we didn't quit."

An improvised line of Corrigan, Murphy and Goring, who do not normally play on the same line, brought the Kings back into the game. At the 7:45 mark of the period, Murphy fed Corrigan in front of the net. He scored easily to make it 3-1. With 5:39 to play, Murphy again hit Corrigan near the crease and he rammed it in to draw the Kings to within one. Goring assisted on both goals.

With 1:36 left, Murphy slapped a 35-foot shot from a difficult angle. The puck bounced just over the stick of goalie Billy Smith.

"Sometimes the puck just happens to bounce in for you and other times you miss it completely," Murphy said. "These things have a way of evening out."

New York had taken a 3-0 lead off goalie Rogie Vachon in the second period when Doug Rombough, Jean Potvin and Gary Howatt scored. Pulford shuffled his lines in the last period to put Corrigan and Goring with the hustling Murphy.

"Murphy hustles from the start," Pulford said. "That line was a coincidence. You may see more of it."

The Kings host Boston Saturday night.

Davis paces SLO's win

LOS ANGELES — Running back Gary Davis, a product of Pomona's Garey High, rushed for 145 yards and two touchdowns Wednesday's afternoon to lead Cal Poly San Luis Obispo to a 44-10 win over Cal State Los Angeles to close the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) football season.

With the win, SLO (2-1-1) finished second to UC Riverside in the final standings while Cal State Los Angeles wound up in the cellar at 0-3-1. Both teams were 5-4-1 for the season.

Davis scored on a three-yard plunge in the second period and a six-yard run in the third.

Cal Poly rolled up 539 yards in total yardage, 339 on the ground and 200 in the air.

Finley cuts ticket price

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland A's owner Charlie Finley, who said at the end of the 1974 World Series that he would try to reduce some ticket prices in 1975 despite inflation, kept his word when it was announced Wednesday that loge box seats will sell for $4.50 next year, down $1.

The world champions also announced their 1975 schedule which includes only four Sunday doubleheaders.

Thirty five afternoon games, including six mid-week contests and one on Memorial Day, are among the three-time World Champions' home dates.

A's will open at home on Tuesday night April 8 against the Chicago White Sox and close Sunday Sept. 28 against the California Angels.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Russian national soccer champion Ararat faces Jalisco Sunday in the first of two exhibitions against Mexican teams.

The Soviet Union champs go against Toluca a week from Sunday, Dec. 8.

"We want very much to leave a good impression in the United States," said Soviet coach Nikita Simonjian. "This is our first trip here and we want to entertain your people with our style of play."

A crowd of 20,000 is expected to watch the Ararat-Jalisco match at the Coliseum Sunday at 2:30 p.m. PST.

Soviet lifter betters mark

LONDON (UPI) Olympic super heavyweight champion Vasili Alexsyev of the Soviet Union bettered his own world record for the jerk in the "Strongest Man in the World" weightlifting competition at London's Crystal Palace tonight.

The world title-holder heaved 925¾ pounds to beat his old mark by 1¾ lbs.

The powerful Russian, who weighs 364 pounds, managed 391¼ pounds for the snatch to win the competition with a two-lift total of 925¼ pounds.

Pomona club College basketball appears wide open wins crown

By ADRIAN MERCADO
P-B Correspondent

The Pomona Stars of the American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO) have become the first champion of the Senior Division made up of players between the age of 16 through 18.

The Stars ended their season with a perfect 8-0-0 record for 16 points. Their closest rival was the San Gabriel Jackrabbits who ended the season with a 4-4-0 record.

Led by captain David Segura of Ganesha High School, the Stars scored 40 goals with only 12 goals scored against them.

The Ontario Tigers came in third and the Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Etiwanda Aces followed. Team members on the Stars are: Segura, Greg Connor (Ganesha), Edwen Lopez (Ganesha), Don McCallan (Pomona), Robert Moore, (Pomona), Doug Bibee (Pomona), Frank Trejo (Garey), Mario Garcia (Chaffey), Bobby Clark (Calvary Baptist, Valmir Fernandez (Upland), Paul McKee (MSAC), Andrew Castro (MSAC); Coaches: Mario and Carlos Segura.

In Division I, the Gunners lead by two points but the second place Aztecs still have one remaining game to play before the season ends, and that game is against the last-place Stars on Saturday. If the Aztecs win their last game, a playoff game will have to be scheduled to determine the first place team.

Division II remains very tight with League leaders enjoying the zenith by the slightest of margins. In the Red League, the Eastern Airlines Wings backed into a three-way tie for second place by tieing the Tigers 3-3; Randy Turner (2) and Steven Merlado scored for the Wings and Herman Hopson, Steve Boynton, and Marty Foutts led the Tiger attack. The league-leading Pomona 1st Federal Thunderbirds scored in the second half on a Brent Snead goal to nip the Sergeants Concrete Palominos 1-0.

Willie Preska (2), and Tody Miller rallied the Cal Poly Optimist Roadrunners in a 3-1 win over the Chargers and goal-scoring Javier Escalante. The Pomona Service Center Torpedos fired seven shots which found their mark against the Kings in a 7-1 win; Charles Hayes and Trevor Jordan "hat tricked" and teammate Mike Ochoa added another goal; Guy Kopf avoided the shutout.

In the Blue League the League-leading Pomona Police Relief Assn. Renegades led by a four-goal barrage by Timothy Thompson and single tallies by Leonard Ice, Danny Quinn and Michael Stanisci downed the Hawks 7-1; Roy Botsford booted in the Hawk goal.

The Mustangs jumped with joy at the end of their game as they won their first game of the season against the Pomona Optimist Sharks by a 2-0 score; Mark Price and Kevin Davis provided the heroics for the victors.

The Southwest Concrete Products Jets fell one point behind the leader by virtue of a 1-1 tie against the Marauders; David Wilber jetted in a goal and Jon Marker hit the net for the Marauders. The Pomona Valley Datsun Kestrels fell two points out of first by tieing the Wildcats 1-1; David Hughlock hammered home a goal in the first half for the Kestrels and Don Hole tied it for the Wildcats.

In Division III, the Cougars fell into a three-way tie for second place by tieing the Streakers 2-2 on goals by Andrew Wilson and Tom Prudhomme as Vincent Creighton and Don Hanawalt tallied for the Streakers. The Steelers scored three times in the closing half to beat the Bond Trucking Cheetahs 4-2; Sean Caro (2) and Ron Bader scored for the victors and Mike Rafferty scored twice for the vanquished. Chris Barraza bombed in a goal in the first half for the Bombers and Jason Excell did likewise for the Jackrabbits in the closing half and the game ended deadlocked at one all.

The upset of the day was the Larry Wellin Jeweler Ravens' 2-1 win over the Red League-leading Eagles who had until that time been the only team with a perfect record of seven straight wins. Mike Muchmore was the protagonist of both goals for the Ravens and Clifford Jackson hit the net once the Pomona Police Assn. Eagles.

Meanwhile, in the White League, the leading Radio Station KSOM Kickers blanked the Pumas 6-0 behind the scoring of Dennis King (2), Mike Maynard (2), Chuck Lavrusky, and Ian Carnochan. The Kickers' eight-point lead is as impressive as the team itself. In the final game, the Dolphins and the Kiwis ended in a 1-1 tie. Aarom Prisock scored for the Dolphins and Clifton Scott also scored for the Kiwis.

In the Girls Division I game, the Pomona Soccerettes' Tammy Marker scored in the first half and then the team played to a 1-0 win over the Diamond Bar Rowdy Raiders. The Pomona Dandelions of Division III dropped a close game against the Claremont Ravens and also dropped to second place; Carol Ryan scored for Claremont and Suzanne Lopez booted in the Dandelion goal.

"Go west, young man, go west."

Horace Greeley's advice to those seeking their fortune in the 19th century hangs like a cloud over the upcoming college basketball season.

For four schools, whose former or prospective stars have joined pro teams in the west, it might be why they won't be NCAA national champions this year, while for more than a dozen others it offers genuine hope for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

North Carolina State, the defending champion, returns all but one starter, but that missing one is 7-foot-4 Tom Burleson. Although the giant center apparently has shrunk two inches since joining the NBA's Seattle SuperSonics, his absence is still a mighty big gap for the Wolfpack to fill.

That's why they may not repeat as champions.

Why they may is David Thompson, who is merely sensational on his off nights. Since the quiet 6-5 forward-guard, offensive-defensive specialist joined the Wolfpack varsity, they have won 57 games and lost one.

The second, or first, logical choice for the national title would be UCLA—who else?

But the Bruins no longer have Bill Walton, now with the NBA's Portland Trail Blazers, so John Wooden is working with a dozen other high school All-Americas. But there are no Bill Waltons or Kareem Abdul-Jabbars in the group.

And Notre Dame lost John Shumate, who decided to forego his senior year to sign with the Phoenix Suns.

Then there's Maryland and Moses. After just one day on the College Park campus, Moses Malone traded in the riches of knowledge for some long green being flashed by the ABA's Utah Stars.

The Atlantic Coast Conference has three legitimate contenders for the national title in N.C. State, North Carolina and Maryland. Yet, come ACC tournament time, Clemson could win the whole thing.

Clemson Coach Tates Locke has a pair of prize recruits in guard Skip Wise and forward Stan Rome. The Tigers also have the ACC's best big man, 7-0 sophomore Wayne "Tree" Rollins, plus guard Van Gregg, the team's leading scorer the past two seasons.

In addition to David Thompson, N.C. State's Wolfpack has sparkplug guard Monte Towe and his backcourt mate Mo Rivers returning, plus 6-7, 230-pound Tim Stoddard and 6-8 Phil Spence. Kenny Carr, a 6-7 forward, is the top recruit.

North Carolina has the size to obliterate its ACC opponents in musclemen Ed Stahl and Mitch Kupchak, who each go about 6-10. Walter Davis, a super swing man, and Ray Harrison are returning starters, while freshman phenom Phil Ford will be the other.

Despite losing Malone, Maryland may have the best backcourt in the country with juniors John Lucas and Mo Howard. New York City star Steve Shepherd, a 6-5 sophomore who was academically ineligible last year, and veteran seniors Tom Roy and Owen Brown will start up front, with 6-9 freshman Chris Patton in reserve.

South Carolina may have its best team ever. Returning are 6-8 Alex English, 6-7 Bob Mathias, 6-4 Nate Davis and guard Mike Dunleavy. The team's best player, though, will be 6-9 transfer Tom Boswell. All Frank McGuire needed was another guard, so he recruited two standouts in Jack Gillcon and Billy Truitt.

Memphis State is the South's other top independent with new Coach Wayne Yates adding 6-9 junior college superstar Marion Hillard and 6-9 freshman John Gunn to a roster including veteran guards Bill Cook and Dexter Reed and 6-10 John Washington.

The class of the Southeastern Conference is Alabama and, yes, we're still talking about basketball. The Crimson Tide returns four starters from last season's SEC co-champions, including Charles Cleveland, T.R. Dunn and 6-10 Leon Douglas.

Alabama's chief competition should come from Kentucky, which had a superb recruiting year, as did Auburn and Georgia.

Pennsylvania owns the Ivy League and this year should be the same as the past four, although Brown will make the Quakers work for their title this season. Two-time All-Ivy Ron Haigler returns for the Quakers, with 6-4 sophomore guard Mark Lonetto the top addition to the squad.

LaSalle is a virtually unanimous choice to win the East Coast Conference title, formerly named the Middle Atlantic, with Joe "Jelly Bean" Bryant and Billy Taylor returning.

Among the Eastern independents, Providence lost Marvin Barnes and Kevin Stacom, but the Friars still have 6-7 Bob Cooper, 6-5 leaper Mark McAndrew, guard Gary Bello and 6-9 freshman Bruce Campbell.

Pittsburgh lost Billy Knight, but gained 6-7 freshman Larry Harris. St. John's added 6-7 frosh George Johnson and 6-10 transfer Tom Weadock to a strong returning cast led by guard Mel Utley.

Indiana Coach Bobby Knight was livid last year when his team won the NCAA's runnerup tournament. He refused to believe his team was second to anyone and this year the squad has returned en masse to prove its point. That includes Quinn Buckner and Steve Green, with freshman guard Jim Wisman the only newcomer with a shot at breaking into the starting lineup.

Purdue won the NIT last year and Michigan represented the conference in the NCAA championship tourney, but both have lost top players. Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman threw away the small ones in recruiting 6-8 Mark Olberding, 6-11 Chad Nelson and 6-9 Dave Winey and Michael Thompson.

Marquette and Notre Dame suffered some serious losses to the pros, but they'll be able to handle most college teams this season.

The Warriors still have 6-11 sophomore Bo Ellis and 6-5 Earl Tatum and when freshman guard Butch Lee teams with sophomore Lloyd Walton in the backcourt, the Warriors will have one of the best combinations in the country.

Irish coach Digger Phelps has a nucleus of Adrian Dantley, Dwight Clay, Ray Martin and Billy Martin and, hopefully, 6-9 soph Toby Knight can replace Shumate in the middle. But if not, the Irish recruited 6-8 Dave Batton, the best high school big man in Philadelphia last year.

Kansas is another that returns almost everyone from last year's conference title-winning team. Returning are Danny Knight, Rick Suttle, Tommie Smith, Roger Morningstar, Norm Cook and Dale Greenlee so Kansas is a solid favorite in the Big Eight.

Louisville coach Dennis Crum has four starters returning and he's not shy about what's on his mind—the national championship. Junior Bridgeman, the Missouri Valley Conference's MVP last season, is back with Allen Murphy and Wesley Cox.

Houston still has 6-9 Louis Dunbar and has added prep All-American guard Tommy Smith.

UCLA still tops in Pac-8 forecast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Now that Bill Walton is gone, they are getting ready to bury John Wooden and UCLA, but don't bet against the Bruins, even if the Pacific 8 Conference basketball race this winter turns into a free-for-all.

All around the Pac-8 you hear how this team and that has improved, that this is the year everyone has been waiting for, especially Bob Boyd and his perennial bridesmaid University of Southern Cal team, but the simple fact is this:

UCLA may have gone back a peg with the departure of Walton but everyone else, including the cross-town Trojans, is still far behind.

Remember, they were getting ready to dethrone UCLA when Lew Alcindor departed. So all Wooden did was bring Walton into the picture and the Bruins rolled merrily along.

Ralph Drollinger is not Bill Walton, but then who is? Still, he'll be in the pivot when UCLA opens the new season, and the supporting cast will be in about the same class—better than most but not spectacular.

Walton isn't the only man missing from last year's champions. The other key graduate is Keith Wilkes, who seems to have made the pro transition better than Walton and in many people's mind was a bigger contributor than the big redhead.

Dave Meyers and Richard Washington will be the Bruin forwards with Andre McCarter and Pete Trgovich at guard. Marques Johnson, recovering from hepatitis, could be the key to the Bruins' success. He is ticketed for one of the forward jobs with Washington shifting to his more natural position, center, as backup to Drollinger.

In the minds of most observers, Stanford, tall and deep at most positions, USC, of course, and Washington, look like the strongest contenders but Washington State, Oregon State, Oregon and California aren't far behind.

Six returning lettermen, including 7-0 center Rich Kelley, make Stanford a strong contender, while USC has 10 returning lettermen, including Gus Williams, who needs a little more consistency to rank as a possible All-America.

The Huskies will be a factor if the race is wide open. In 6-11 James Edwards, 6-10 Lare Hansen and 6-10 transfer Larry Jackson, Washington has as much height as anyone.

Dick Harter and his Oregon Ducks will stick with their cut-and-slash defense which has infuriated rivals and delighted the locals. Guard Ron Lee, whom Harter thinks is the second best in the country behind All-America David Thompson of North Carolina State is the key Duck.

Oregon State is a puzzle and will remain one until Ralph Miller figures out who plays where, although the team has quickness no matter how it lines up. Six returning lettermen are the team's depth.

George Raveling is remaking Washington State with transfers and freshmen, but can always fall back on lettermen, including 6-11 soph Steve Puiodkas, while California is taking the same path with three transfers joining guard Rickie Hawthorne and forward Doug Vilotti in the lineup.

In the WCAC, most think Nevada-Las Vegas, now that Jerry Tarkanian has had a year to get his feet wet, will win the conference title, but no one should overlook Seattle and All-America candidate Frank Oleynick.

In the PCAA, there are no favorites, so San Diego State is as good a pick going in as any, although the Aztecs were 7-19 a year ago. Steve Copp, a 6-7 forward, who missed half of last season, and 6-8 soph Will Connelly are the key players for Coach Dick Davis.

NFL sets up sites, dates for playoffs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although 15 teams are still in the running for playoff berths, the National Football League Wednesday announced the lineup of dates and sites for the divisional playoffs.

On Saturday, Dec. 21, 10 a.m. PST, the National Football Conference Eastern champion will be at the NFC Central champion and at 1 p.m. PST the American Football Conference Eastern Champion (or Wild Card if from Central Division) at AFC Western champion, Oakland.

On Sunday, Dec. 22, 10 a.m. PST, AFL Wild Card (or AFC Eastern champion if Wild Card is from Central Division) will be at AFC Central champion and at 1 p.m. PST, NFC Wild Card at NFC Western champion, Los Angeles.

The NFC Eastern division title is a battle between St. Louis and Washington, while the NFC Central division crown can go to Minnesota, Green Bay or Detroit. All five teams, plus Dallas, currently third in the East, are also candidates for the NFC Wild Card berth, which goes to the second place team with the best won-lost percentage.

In the AFC East, Miami, Buffalo and New England are in contention, with Pittsburgh and Cincinnati in the race for Central title. These five clubs, plus Houston of the Central and Denver of the West are also candidates for the AFC Wild Card berth.

The eventual AFC and NFC winners will meet in championship games on Sunday, Dec. 29, with the NFC contest at the site of the winner of Eastern-Central divisional playoff. In the AFC, the priority rotation for the championship game is West, Central, East.

Named in divorce case

Unwed mother quits beauty title

LONDON (UPI) — An official of the Miss World beauty contest said today they would try to persuade unmarried mother Helen Morgan to keep her title.

"Unless she calmly tells me otherwise I think she should stay on," said Mrs. Julia Morley, the contest organizer.

Miss Morgan, 22, telephoned Mrs. Morley in tears Tuesday night and resigned the beauty crown she had held only four days. She said she was quitting because of the possibility she would be named as a co-respondent in a dviorce case.

She was the second successive Miss World to be fired or quit. Last year Marjorie Wallace of the United States was ousted by the organizers because of scandalous reports about her private life.

"She was very upset and overwrought," Mrs. Morley said of Miss Morgan. "She was so confused that I am not accepting that she really wishes to resign.

"Just Because she may be dragged into a divorce case does not necessarily mean that she has to resign. I will do everything I can to make her change her mind."

Controversy over Miss Morgan erupted almost as soon as she won the title over entrants from 56 other countries Friday night when it was disclosed she had an 18-month-old illegitimate son.

Eric Morley, chief judge of the contest, said her resignation had nothing to do with the baby.

The Sun newspaper said cabaret dancer Linda Lovegrove, 28, would cite Miss Morgan as "the other woman" in a court action to divorce her husband, a nightclub owner.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Baby problems

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm expecting a baby in two months and I'd like very much to have my baby with me as soon as the doctor will allow it. My husband thinks the baby would be better off in a separate room even after we get home. He says this is for health reasons, but I suspect something else. I'm rather worried because I don't honestly know how much he wanted this baby. It was my idea and I'm hoping he'll get used to it without being miserable or making me and the baby miserable.

Is it wrong to want my baby close to me or is this going to start trouble with my husband and the baby? Is it wrong to hold a new baby too much? — J.M.

Dear J.M.: The more cuddling and touching a new baby can have, the better. Obviously, I don't mean that if the baby is sleeping quietly, you should wake him up just so you can hold him and touch him, but there is almost no way an infant can receive too much love.

The first love a child knows and understands is through the sense of touch — without this, the baby can be stunted emotionally and physically. Many doctors now feel that the more the newborn baby can be with his mother, the healthier that baby will be, as long as the mother is in good physical and mental health.

Some mothers who had their newborn babies for roommates in the hospital felt it made them more self-confident with their infants and more competent in child care. Some even claimed they could understand what the baby was trying to communicate when crying. They were happier and they were quicker to develop maternal feelings than the mothers who were separated from their children.

The more relaxed and comfortable a mother is with her baby, the happier the baby is apt to be, for when a mother communicates tension to her child, the baby is apt to be fussy.

How soon you have the baby as a roommate and whether or not the baby sleeps in your room, is a matter you should leave to your own doctor to decide. He may have reasons for thinking it would be better to have a period of separation.

Your letter indicates that you probably won't have problems relating to and loving your baby so the maternal feeling will probably not be an issue in your case. At first some women who in the long run make excellent mothers have trouble relating to their child, and may be a little frightened of it.

This also holds true of fathers, but both men and women usually learn to love and to care for their newborn infant within a matter of days. Your husband may feel that this newborn child is going to alter your feelings for him. Sometimes, men, especially if they are immature, have difficulty accepting another love object in their home. They may see this as competition and may be jealous over the mother's attentions to the child.

Most men grow up rather quickly once they, too, become involved with their child. Some men more than others need reassurance from their wives and some women create needless problems by showing their husbands no affection at all once a baby arrives. The baby's needs will be much greater than your husband's, but you can help overcome problems of jealousy by encouraging your husband to help as much as possible with the infant.

Women

Gonzales and Salazar vows are exchanged

Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church in Ontario was the setting for the marriage of Miss Janie Salazar and Bennie Gonzales.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Salazar of Ontario and the son of Mrs. Louise Gonzales of Chino recited their vows in a morning Nuptial Mass.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of organza and lace, appliqued with pearls. A pearl headpiece held the bride's bouffant veil which was accented with lace appliques.

Maids of honor were Janet Hernandez and Maria Olivas. The matron of honor was Mrs. Lorenza Zabala of Pomona. Serving as bridesmaids were Yolanda Gonzalez, Yolanda Salazar, Rose Salazar, Sara Olivas, Manuela Martinez, Gbya Salazar and Nellie Lopez, all of Ontario; Gloria Gonzales, Diana Gonzales, Elaine Gonzales, Carmen Santos, Linda Gonzalez, Karen Morales and Gloria Mendoza, all of Chino; Grace Zabala and Priscilla Arambula of Pomona; Sylvia Felix of Corona; Sandy Granado, Norco; Mary Rodriquez, Riverside; Annie Lopez, Ontario; Vivian Gonzales and Marlou Alverez of Upland.

Nora Gonzales of Chino was flower girl and Danny Solorio of Pomona was ring bearer.

Best men were Ruben Zabala, Sammy Hernandez and Melvin Arredondo.

Ushers were Ricky Martinez, Ernie Melendrez, Nazario Martinez, Robert Salazar, Larry Escamillas, Paul Gonzalez, Albert Lopez, Lorenzo Valdominos, Louie Lopez, all of Ontario; David Gonzales, Joe Gonzales, Larry Avila, Lynn Chacon, Jimmy Martinez, Steve Gonzales, Paul Briones, Hector Lamarque, Richard Salgado, Raul Espinoza, all of Chino; Rudy Zabala and Ronnie Hernandez of Pomona; and Ronnie Venegas of Redlands

MRS. BENNIE GONZALES

A reception at the Indian Hill Country Club in Riverside feted the newlyweds. After a honeymoon in Palm Springs, they are residing in Chino.

Amaranth to honor officers

Della Robbia Court 130, Order of the Amaranth, will honor grand officers at a reception Monday at 8 p.m. in the Upland Masonic Temple.

Honorees for the evening are Mrs. Myrna Kailer of Pomona, district deputy grand royal matron; Mrs. Nadine Godfrey of Pomona, district deputy grand royal matron; and Wayne Dennis of Upland, deputy grand royal patron. They will be presented by Mrs. Ruby Wade of Redondo Beach, past grand royal matron; Mrs. Irene Turley of Sunnyvale, past grand royal matron; and Mildred Rollins, past grand royal matron, from Glendale.

A special presentation will be made by David Decker, worshipful master of Upland Lodge 418 F & M.

The music will be presented by Miss Suranna Bradley of Pomona and soloist Mrs. Edwinda Kellner, junior past worthy matron of Upland Chapter of Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Ruth Adams, royal matron, is general chairman and Mrs. Julie Steele, will be in charge of refreshments. Mrs. Erma Dennis will use the Christmas theme for decorations and corsages.

Seniors program awarded $27,000

SAN BERNARDINO (CNS) — The Board of Supervisors has agreed to provide a year's funding of $27,000 for a senior citizen program that was recently dropped by the City of San Bernardino.

The board took the action in order to insure the continuance of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, (RSVP) a project of the San Bernardino County Council of Community Services.

The county council has no connection with the county government, but funds and administers a number of programs of social benefit on a county wide basis.

The funds for these programs are provided through the United Fund as well as from the state and federal governments.

RSVP is a state-wide program financed partially by the federal government and partially through contributions of a local government agency. The total annual budget for the program is $57,000. The city was making monthly payments totaling $1,816.64.

Last March, the board indicated a willingness to prove local support for the program but a committee of senior citizens elected to have the city finance the program under the "umbrella" of the county council.

Michael Lippit, SBC-CCS director said Monday that the main function of the RSVP program is to recruit persons 60 or older to do volunteer work at public and private non-profit community organizations and agencies.

"The object of the program is to encourage older persons to once again become active in the community," Lippit said.

He said that about 400 senior citizens are involved in the program at present providing volunteer services to organizations such as the Heart Association, Lighthouse for the Blind, the Red Cross, the Cancer Society and the County Medical Center.

RSVP provides expenses for the volunteers for meals and transportation of up to $15 per month.

L.A. living cost index unchanged

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The cost of living index in metropolitan Los Angeles was unchanged last month —the first time since January, 1972, that consumer prices have not gone up, the U.S. Bureau of labor Statistics said Thursday.

Nationwide, the index increased by 0.9 per cent during October on an adjusted basis.

Higher prices for food, transportation and health and recreation items in Los Angeles and Orange Counties were offset by declines in the cost of housing and clothing, according to Suzanne Sadowsky, Southern California director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

However, retail prices in October were 11.5 per cent higher than a year ago, she said, and during the first 10 months of this year, prices increased by 10 per cent, compared with 6.4 per cent during the same period of 1973.

Food prices increased 0.2 per cent during October and were led by cereals and bakery products which surged ahead by 2.2 per cent in October and 30.1 per cent during the past 12 months.

Fruits and vegetables were up 2 per cent while eggs, sugar, fats and oils were up 2.6 per cent. However, meats, poultry and fish were down 3.7 per cent during the month.

Costs of new and used cars and auto repairs and higher financing charges increased private transportation prices 0.3 per cent.

Wearing apparel declined 0.6 per cent during October and housing costs were 0.2 per cent lower but still were 10.8 per cent above a year ago.

The consumer price index remained at the record high of 147.5. In the base year of 1967, it was 100.

New course set in study of humanity

A new course in human geography will be offered at Citrus College in the spring semester in February.

According to instructor Thomas R. Tefft, the course will study people in respect to their culture, history and background, how geography and climate affect a culture, the impact of other cultures on a specific area, and the common basic needs of man.

Particular attention will be concentrated in the study of cultures of Africa and the Orient.

Registration for the class will be held Dec. 2. Information about the class may be obtained by calling the school at 213-335-0521.

Oil exporting nations mull unity in price

VIENNA (UPI) — Experts from the world's major oil exporting nations met today to try and restore oil price unity in the face of growing pressure from importers for oil price cuts.

OPEC officials said the Economic Commission of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries will draw up new price proposals for 1975 and study recommendations for a new long-term system of pricing crude oil.

Russ may get military base on Greek isle

ANKARA (UPI) — The Greek Cypriot administration has agreed in principle to let the Soviet Union establish a military base on the island, the Turkish ANKA news agency said recently.

Quoting Turkish Foreign Ministry officials, Anka said the Soviet Union asked for permission to build a military base in the port city of Larnaca before the Greek-led July 15 coup that overthrew President Archbishop Makarios.

"A Greek Cypriot delegation visited Moscow recently to negotiate this matter," ANKA said. "It is known that the Greek Cypriot administration has agreed in principle to establishment of the military base."

Mine safety

The Bureau of Mines has purchased an electronic "blue box" that can remain on continuous alert against concentrations of gases or a fire in any part of a mine complex.

Drunk driving

Fifteen states passed implied consent statutes in 1969 requiring suspected drunken drivers to take chemical intoxication tests.

The very first glass was made by nature in volcanoes long before man learned how to make it himself.

It is a glasslike rock called obsidian (pronounced ob SID ee an), and is found around volcanoes all over the world.

Obsidian is formed when molten (melted) rock in the core of the earth forces its way to the surface and breaks through the earth's crust in volcanoes.

When the hot lava cools quickly, it forms a glass as hard as a rock.

Most obsidian is black, but it may be found in many other colors as well.

The American Indians and other early peoples found obsidian very useful. They made the tips of their arrows and spears out of it.

The way this brittle rock breaks apart makes it easy to shape sharp arrowheads and knives, as well as tools and other implements.

In Yellowstone National Park, U.S.A., you can see an entire cliff made of obsidian.

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

'A Moon for the Misbegotten'

O'Neill drama at Ahmanson

By ROBERT NAGEY

The last play written by Eugene O'Neill starts slowly but builds to such a spellbinding climax that the resolution in the fourth and final act comes as a letdown.

"A Moon for the Misbegotten," starring Jason Robards and Colleen Dewhurst, won three Tony awards during its 11-month run on Broadway. It premired at the Ahmanson Theater in Los Angeles Music Center Tuesday night for a six-week run.

The play deals with people committed to self-destruction by circumstances. James Tyrone (Robards) is tormented by his inability to cope with the death of his mother and transfers his affection to Josie Hogan, a strong but simple farm girl (Miss Dewhurst). But Josie is perceptive enough to see no hope in the relationship, even though she loves Tyrone.. The psychological drama is believed to be patterned after the relationship of O'Neill's older brother, Jamie, and their mother.

Miss Dewhurst gives an inspired performance throughout the play; Robards begins unevenly but grows as the drama unfolds. Tom Clancy as Josie's raucous father supplies the comic relief.

Despite the realism of people growing apart through missed connections, there is a sequence of beauty and love in the third act which totally captures the audience.

It is perhaps the interplay of Robards and Miss Dewhurst and the direction of Jose Quintero, an old O'Neill devotee, that lifts this presentation over those which failed to arouse audiences in the past.

Greer Garson to perform at pavilion

Greer Garson will narrate the St. Luke Christmas story with the Los Angeles Master Chorale in the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center Dec. 21.

The actress will come here from her home in Dallas for the event.

The chorale will sing a group of familiar songs including "What Child Is This," "Gesu Bambino," "Angels We Have Heard on High" and the "Virgin's Slumber Song." Roger Wagner conducts.

The concert will also include the Gabrieli "O Magnum Mysterium" and "Hymn to the Virgin" and "Rejoice in the Lamb," by Benjamin Britten.

Miss Garson, a long-time friend of the chorale and Sinfonia Orchestra here, is a member of the board of the Dallas Symphony, the Dallas Fine Arts Museum and the State Commission on the Arts in Texas.

Community unit schedules concert

The 60-voice Pomona Community Chorus, directed by Ray Woods, will present its annual Christmas concert at the Pilgrim Congregational Church, 600 N. Garey Ave., Pomona, at 8 p.m. Dec. 13.

Tickets are $1, senior citizens and children free.

The chorus, formed in 1972, is open to all members of the community. It performs for many local organizations throughout the year, offering a repertoire ranging from pop music to Handel's "Messiah" and Bach's "Magnificat."

Woods is director of music at Garey High School and music director of the First Presbyterian Church in San Pedro. Accompanist Gary Toops, music instructor at Mt. San Antonio College, holds a choir master's degree awarded by the American Guild of Organists.

The Pomona chorus took part in the recent choral festival in Riverside. Also participating were the Riverside Chorale, directed by Theodore Johnston; the Oh Que Chorale of La Verne, directed by Thomas Schultz, and the Orange County Master Chorale and the Orange County Chamber Chorale, both conducted by Dennis Houser.

The Pomona Community Chorus sang Brahms' "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place," with Kathi McClure as accompanist; the "Gloria" from Pinkham's "Christmas Cantata," with brass choir, and a spiritual, "Every Time I See the Spirit." The program ended with the 160 voices of the massed choruses singing the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah."

RAY WOODS

Country-rock singer set at Riverside

Linda Ronstadt, country-rock star, will perform in the gymnasium of UC Riverside at 8 p.m. Sunday. Advance tickets are $4 general, $3.50 for students. At the door all tickets are $5.

Miss Rondstadt, well-known for her past hits, "Love Has No Pride" and "Silver Threads and Golden Needles," will be joined by Southern California folk-singer Batdorf and Rodney in the concert, sponsored by the Associated Students.

Before gaining popularity as a solo artist, Miss Ronstadt, a teen-ager from Tucson, Ariz., first entered the pop music scene in the 1960s with a folk group called the Stone Ponies. Their biggest hit, "Different Drum," is still a popular Ronstadt concert number.

Miss Ronstadt has been a frequent visitor to clubs like the Palomino and Troubadour in Los Angeles, in addition to having an active coast-to-coast campus schedule. Last May, she presented two shows in the gym at UCR.

Her most recent Capitol album, "Heart Like a Wheel," has just been released in conjunction with her latest tour.

YOUNG LOVE — Ron Husmann and Debbie Reynolds provide the romantic interest in the revival of the musical, "Irene," playing through Dec. 22 at the Shubert Theater, Los Angeles. The show, which played on Broadway for almost two years, features such nostalgic tunes as "You Made Me Love You," "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows" and "Alice Blue Gown."

Scripps to screen movie in German

"Die Zurcher Verlobung," a comedy about a German girl and her three men, will be shown free in Pattison Hall, Scripps College, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The German language color film stars Liselotte Pulver, Paul Hubschmid, Bernhard Wicki and Wolfgang Lukschy. The girl, Juliane, writes and then attempts to sell a film manuscript combining her own experiences and those of her daydreams. The interested director turns out to be one of the characters in her manuscript. To save the situation, she invents an unescapable web of lies.

"Deutschlandspiegel," a German language newsreel, will also be shown.

Sponsored by the German faculty of Scripps College, both films are open to the public.

'Open' administration problem: public also can see the goofs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There's one big problem in setting up an "open administration." People can see the goofs as well as the triumphs.

And while the triumphs of the young Ford administration have been few, there have been plenty of miscues.

These are not policy decisions subject to bipartisan debate, such as the pardon for former President Richard M. Nixon and the conditional amnesty for Vietnam war resisters.

Rather, they are errors of fact, broken lines of communications, errors that have frustrated newsmen who report what the administration is doing and have confused many Americans trying to understand it for themselves.

Ford's economic message was a case in point.

The turning point of that speech was Ford's plan to levy a one-year, 5 per cent surtax on middle-and upper-income persons in 1975.

As Ford candidly noted, this is a politically dangerous card to play just one month before congressional elections, especially when the Republican party has its back to the wall in dozens of key races, according to most polls.

Nonetheless, Ford felt the tax was crucial to his anti-inflation package and he believed most Americans would support it if they realized exactly what it would cost.

To that end, the Treasury Department prepared a fact sheet for reporters noting, in part, that an average family of four earning $20,000 a year would pay an extra $128 due to the surcharge.

At his Rose Garden press conference the next day, Ford said the added tax bite for the same-sized family with the same income would be $42.

Which figure was right? Both were, depending on whether the tax is figured from "adjusted gross income" in Ford's example or "taxable income" in the Treasury fact sheet.

But these are technicalities that few but accountants understand and newspaper readers, editors and reporters bombarded the White House press office for an explanation. A new list based on average annual income, a figure most taxpayers understand, was quickly published but too late to eliminate much of the confusion.

Ford dug himself deeper into a hole at the same news conference by explaining that his surtax would effect only 28 per cent of all taxpayers. That raised some eyebrows because Treasury Secretary William E. Simon had told reporters the day before that it was 28 per cent of all tax returns.

Simon was right and since the 23 million returns that will be subject to the surtax cover roughly 60 million people, Ford's statistics were misleading.

Did the President simply muff the figure under the pressure of the news conference or was he given bad information by his staff? The answer is unclear but there is more evidence that the Oval Office routine needs smoothing out.

Ford's third news conference produced some other problems that required patching up later.

—The President declared the United States is not now in a recession. A number of economists think otherwise and one, Arthur F. Burns, the influential chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and one of Ford's closest economic advisers, said so. He testified two days later on Capitol Hill that conditions were bad enough to warrant the term "recession" although it was a highly unusual type of economic slump.

—Ford said he favored phasing out the oil depletion allowance. In a "clarification" the next day, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the President was actually referring to the depletion allowance on foreign oil, a relatively insignificant issue. The President actually favors retaining the allowance on domestic oil production as long as petroleum is covered by government price controls, according to Nessen.

CHP plans holiday battle against drinking drivers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The chief of the California Highway Patrol has said that the patrol will "figuratively lace on enforcement boxing gloves" to battle drunken drivers during the upcoming 40-day holiday season.

"The drinking driver can expect real pressure this year," said Commissioner Dan Lanza, predicting that 25,000 drunk driver arrests will be made in November and December.

The arrests will represent a 25 per cent increase over the average 10,000 drivers a month arrested on drunken driving charges so far in 1974.

Lanza said he expects the CHP will arrest a total of about 130,000 drunken drivers in 1974 —beating the record of 120,000 set in the previous year.

"We've cut down on electricity and our bills are still high.

How do you explain that?"

We know your electric bill is higher. A lot higher—even though you're conserving electricity. Why? Primarily because of the increased cost of oil.

It's our job to provide the electricity you, your family and your job require. And we must do so in a manner that meets all air pollution control regulations. This means burning foreign, low-sulfur oil in Edison generating plants. The price is set by foreign governments, and it more than tripled in the last 18 months. It could go even higher. Since January, 1972, the increasing costs of oil and the additional amounts we have had to buy are responsible for almost 90% of the increase in your electric bills.

So we won't always be so dependent on foreign oil, we're spending millions of dollars building coal and nuclear plants. We are also researching new ways to generate electricity—without foreign oil. Geothermal power. Solar power. Fuel cells. Fast breeder reactors. Nuclear fusion. Research is costly, but it will also help to reduce our reliance on foreign oil.

Projects related to the environment are expensive, too, and in 1974 will account for about 20% of our capital expenditures. In the past six years, $325 million were required to be spent for such projects. It looks like we will have to spend another $450 million for environmental purposes within the next four-year period.

On top of all this, inflation is eating into our budget—as it is yours. The cost of constructing new plants is 10 times higher than it was a few years ago, and borrowing costs have more than doubled.

Your electric bill will reflect these rising costs. What can you do to hold down your bill? Budget your use of electricity wisely. For ways to do this, send for our free booklet. Write: "Conservation," Edison, P.O. Box 800, Rosemead, CA 91770.

Want Ads Ring,

Want Ads have the ring of truth. When you pick up the phone to check on some item advertised in Classified, you can be sure of an honest bargain. Want Ads are famous for bargains in a wide range of goods and special services.

Are You Listening?

When money talks, people listen, and Want Ads mean money. There's money in all those discarded items lying around the house or garage. Someone will find them valuable and pay you good hard cash for the privilege of taking them off your hands. Be sure you are listening when Want Ad money talks.

On the Page,

This is where it all is -- in the Classified Pages. Houses, autos, appliances, furniture, toys, bikes, musical instruments, jobs, pets -- you name it.

Bargains Glisten.

Folks just naturally look to the Want Ads when they want a good bargain. They know there are valuable and serviceable goods available at amazingly low prices.

Selling in A Winter Moneyland.

Classified is truly a Winter Moneyland. Heavy Want Ad readership hits its peak during the stay-at-home time of the year. It's the popular time to round up your still useful but no-longer-used items lying around the premises. A speedy Want Ad will exchange them for welcome Christmas cash. There's money to be made, too, in the savings you'll find in Classified Yuletide gift bargains. Let Classified lead you to your Winter Moneyland.

Here's the truck with more bigness all around. Starting with the biggest engine in its class. A 1968cc overhead cam engine. Then there's the bed itself. 7-feet, 2-inches long. Over a foot longer than what the competition has to offer. Even the cab is bigger and roomier this year. Standard equipment includes 7.300x14 white sidewall tires in front. 4 speed synchromesh transmission, dual headlamps and color keyed grille.
